SIX MISSING IN TANKER FIRE — Six crewmen were missing Friday after a 33,000-ton British tanker slammed into an offshore drilling platform and burst into flames, spilling much of the ship's 350,000 barrels of crude oil into the Gulf of Mexico off the Louisiana Coast. Forty of the ship's 46 crewmen were rescued by vessels in the area. Fire-fighting equipment was en route to the scene Friday night. Chevron, owners of the drilling rig, said there were no working wells on the Platform. The Globtik Sun, owned by Globtik Tankers Bahamas Ltd., was manned by Filipino seamen with Norwegian officers. The ship was chartered by Exxon Co. USA and was en route from the West Indies to Baytown, Tex.

School Taxes To Jump In 2 OC Districts

By JIM BROCK
Register Staff Writer

Taxpayers in at least two Orange County tax-supported school districts will get a tax rate increase this fall under the state's new $60 million emergency school aid bill, county school officials reported Friday.

Seal Beach Elementary School District's rate will jump about 2.5 cents to $2.36 per $100 assessed valuation, for an additional $22,280; and the Brea-Olinda Unified School District rate will increase about 10 cents to $4.81, for an additional $105,480.

Both increases have been approved by trustees in the two districts.

Another district—Laguna Beach Unified School District—will consider a possible 6.2-cent hike at a special school board meeting at 12:30 p.m. Monday. If approved, the rate would jump to $2.97 and raise $95,500, officials reported.

The bill, SB 220, permits local school districts to raise their income limit by $21 per student in 1975-76. Districts that are eligible for supplemental state funds will get the additional money from the state. Ineligible districts, such as Seal Beach, may increase local tax rates to raise the money.

Four other districts either

FBI's Attacks On Klan Revealed In Documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI drew and distributed derogatory cartoons, mailed anonymous postcards and created a dummy citizens' committee in efforts to harass and disrupt the Ku Klux Klan, according to FBI documents disclosed Friday.

FBI agents engaged in a similar harassment campaign against the National States Rights Party and claimed that they caused one Alabama party member to lose his job.

The late J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director at the time of the 10-year counterintelligence program against "white hate groups," claimed in 1965 that the FBI had informers in all 14 Klan organizations he said were in existence then.

He argued that disruptive tactics were necessary to curb racial violence by the Klan and other anti-black groups such as the States Rights Party.

Those disclosures emerged from 125 pages of FBI files on the so-called Cointelpro against white hate groups from Sept. 2, 1961 through April 28, 1971.

The FBI turned over the documents to a group of reporters who first petitioned for them nine months ago under the Freedom of Information Act.

The documents, ordered to delete many names and some other material, provide the first public glimpse of Cointelpro activities against white hate groups. The FBI previously has been forced to disclose documents dealing with Cointelpro operations against the Socialist Workers Party and other leftist political groups.

The Klan papers show that the FBI in 1965 set its laboratory division to work drawing three cartoons "in an amateurish fashion, suitable for mailing as four-cent postal cards" to known Klan members.

"These cards would be mailed openly to residences and places of business in order to cause embarrassment and discussion in the home," the FBI memo said, adding that 6,000 copies of each of the three drawings had been prepared for distribution.

Two of the drawings show an apparently nervous white-robed Klansman and carry these captions: "Someone is peeking under your sheet," and "Trying to hide your identity behind your sheet? You received this (Continued On Page A4)

Gasoline Prices To Go Up 4 To 6c, Oil Companies Say

By JOHN O'DELL
Register Staff Writer

Motorists can expect to see their gasoline bills go up from two to six cents a gallon by several major oil companies in the next few months.

The price hikes predicted by the Mobil, Exxon, Gulf and Union oil companies could go even higher if foreign oil producers decide to increase their prices in October.

Predicted hikes are based on two domestic political situations, oil company spokesmen said:

—Should President Ford veto an extension of price controls on oil products, as expected when the current price ceiling runs out Aug. 31, prices could jump as much as six cents a gallon;

—Such a hike could be moderated by a recent U.S. Court of Appeals decision ruling that the

$285 MILLION

Welfare Recipients Overpaid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Social Security Administration official admitted Friday that the agency's new welfare program for the aged, blind and disabled has made some $285 million in overpayments, some of which will not be recovered.

Robert P. Bynum, Social Security's associate administrator for program development, said the new Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program had been the victim of computer errors but that caseworkers were working to recover money erroneously paid to clients.

"In a large program involving millions of people and particularly with new programs...there are major systems problems," Bynum said in explaining the overpayments. "Most of our problems have been solved."

The Washington Star, in a copyright story, reported Friday that the SSI program, because of computer errors, had poured out more than $400.7 million dollars in overpayments and quoted unnamed sources as predicting the total loss could go as high as $1 billion.

The Star said the situation was further complicated because many state welfare programs have been tied in with the SSI computer system since the program began Jan. 1, 1974.

A Social Security spokesman said the Star had used "a gross (Continued On Page A4) the most vindictive testimony against him in his indictment on seven felony counts including grand theft, misusing tax funds and authorizing false salary claims.

One of the ex-employees had a proclivity for streaking, Battin said.

In a two-hour press conference Friday, Battin outlined his defense strategy against the charges that he allowed his employees to work on his unsuccessful 1974 campaign for lieutenant governor on county time.

The grand jury leveled the indictment against him Wednesday night, and he pleaded innocent Thursday in Superior Court. He was released on his own recognizance.

In his wide-ranging press conference, Battin:

—Said he would seek a quick trial, within 60 days if possible, and would rely on a "technical defense for what I regard as a technical indictment;"

—Announced he is establishing a "Battin Defense Fund to help defray attorney fees expected to run about $25,000; the only major donor so far, he added, was himself;

—Gave reporters copies of an indictment he had prepared for the grand jury charging Dist. Atty. Cecil Hicks with campaign law violations, but said the jurors refused to consider the charges;

—Claimed Hicks is under investigation by federal officials for failing to submit forms required when paying secret funds to informers.

"These press conferences serve no worthwhile purpose," Hicks said while denying Battin's accusations. "Let's proceed in an orderly manner in court."

Battin reiterated that he had relied on his office manager to keep an accurate tally of the amount of time spent by his

'Clean Air' Act Penalties Curbed

Court Rules State May Reject Programs Prescribed By EPA

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The 9th U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Friday that the Clean Air Act of 1970 does not authorize the imposition of sanctions on the state for failure to comply with federal regulations directing the state to control pollution creating activities of its residences or businesses.

The case arises from numerous petitions for a review of certain regulations issued by the administrators of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Petitions were filed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California, trustees of California state universities and colleges, the California Air Resources Board, numerous California cities and counties and private businesses.

"Our interpretation does not deprive the administrator of power to regulate air pollution in the manner provided by the act," said the court. "We merely hold that under the act, a state may decline without being liable to sanctions, to undertake a program of control suggested by the administrator."

"A state, however, may not interfere with such regulations of the sources of pollution as the administrator pursuant to the act under takes," added the court.

The court said it had made the same decision in reference to Alaska, which had filed a similar court action.

Under the act, California was required to submit for approval a state plan providing for implementation, maintenance and enforcement of national ambient air quality standards.

The state submitted its plan on Feb. 1, 1972, and it was partially approved but after revisions and some related litigation the administrator disapproved the state's plan because it didn't provide for reaching and maintaining national standards for photochemical oxidants.

He then put out a transportation control plan and other regulations covering all of California's air quality control regions.

Among other things the plan

LA Man Held In Fake Hoffa Payoff Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A California man has been arrested by FBI agents after he told members of James R. Hoffa's family he would reveal the whereabouts of the missing former Teamsters Union leader for $100,000, authorities said Friday.

A spokesman said the FBI did not think the man knew anything about the Hoffa case.

David J. Allen, 36, of suburban Pico Rivera, was taken into custody Thursday night as he allegedly was talking by telephone to the Hoffa home at Lake Orion, Mich., the FBI spokesman said.

Meanwhile in Detroit FBI agents searched a construction site Friday night for ex-Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa but said a tip that he was buried there was no better or worse than previous tips.

PILOT DIES; OBSERVER BADLY HURT

Anaheim Police Copter Crashes

IDYLLWILD — An Anaheim police helicopter crashed and split in two pieces on top of Tabiquita peak in the San Jacinto Mountains here Friday, killing the pilot.

Dead is Gary Anthony Nelson, 35, an 11-year veteran of the Anaheim police force. Critically injured was the observer, Robert DeParise, 26, of Ontario.

A forest ranger saw the helicopter plummet to the top of the peak and break in half. The part of the aircraft with the pilot inside slid to the bottom of the mountain, police said.

Nelson, who lived in Irvine, was the father of two children. DeParise is married and has been with the Anaheim Police Department for two years.

The two officers were on a surveillance mission for the Orange County police department. They were both assigned to the vice, narcotics and intelligence bureau. Their helicopter crashed at 3:40 p.m. Police would not say what their mission was in Riverside County.

Tabiquita peak sticks up 8,800 feet beside Mount San Jacinto overlooking San Jacinto and Hemet in Riverside County. The crash site is about three miles east of Idyllwild, a mountain community.

Rescue teams, brought in by helicopter, reached the wilderness area at 6:30 p.m. and evacuated the injured DeParise to Hemet Valley Hospital where it was determined that he suffered loss of blood, a fractured skull and other injuries. He was then flown to Los Angeles University Hospital.

The body of the pilot had not been reached by the rescue team as darkness fell over the wild mountain region.

Investigators said there was no immediate explanation of the cause of the helicopter crash.

4 Gem Robbers Drop Most Loot, Elude Capture

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (AP) — Four gunmen in Halloween masks robbed a jewelry manufacturing company of gold bars, silver and diamonds, fled with a hostage and later released him unharmed, police said Friday.

A police spokesman said the bandits grabbed between $60,000 and $80,000 worth of loot, far less than originally reported. All but $2,500 of it has been recovered near the scene of the robbery. First official reports said the haul was worth $200,000.

Investigators said there was no immediate explanation of the cause of the helicopter crash.

Ousted Leader Of Nazi Party Shot To Death

EL MONTE (AP) — An ousted leader of the American Nazi Party here was shot to death outside party headquarters Friday in what police said may have been part of a power struggle.

Capt. Robert Wiles said Joseph Charles Tommasi was killed by a single bullet fired into his head. He said Tommasi was ousted from the local party as leader in 1973 and formed a splinter group called the National Socialist Liberation Front.

Police detained three men for questioning, including Don Stewart, identified as the present leader of the party here.

Capt. Wiles said "numerous weapons" were seized at the party headquarters including a pistol that apparently had been used recently.

JAILER'S WIDOW SAYS

'Trust' Joan Little Will Get Justice'

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP) — "I just trust in the Lord that she'll get justice somewhere," Mrs. Clarence Allgood said Friday after Joan Little was acquitted of murder charges in the death of Mrs. Allgood's husband.

Mrs. Allgood, a plump, bespectacled woman with her gray hair pulled into a bun, came to the door of her neat brick house in response to a reporter's knock. Inside, a television newscast was recounting her case again the events of last Aug. 27.

"My nerves are gone. It's been a bad ordeal. I hope I can forget about it," Mrs. Allgood said. She was not anxious to answer questions.

"Whatever I say might sound bad. No, I don't think it was a fair trial, but I don't know the law. I just trust in the Lord that she'll get justice somewhere," she said.

"It's been a nightmare. I'll never forget my son coming to the door that morning. I knew something was wrong. It just numbed me out, and I haven't been myself since," said Mrs. Allgood, who has recently undergone cancer surgery.

Her son, Don, the family's spokesman, also said he should not comment but was torn by a desire to express his opinion.

"I wasn't surprised, but I was very disappointed. I don't think it was a fair trial due to the publicity, politics and the money behind her (Miss Little).

Election Reform Law Defender Hails Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Applauding Congress for trying to clean up American elections, the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld on Friday the new law that prescribes how much a politician may raise and spend.

The court also gave its blessing to tax financing of presidential campaigns and to the newly established Federal Election Commission, as well as provisions requiring every candidate to file regular reports giving the names of each person who contributes more than $10.

"Politics has become a growth industry and a way of life for millions of Americans," the eight-judge decision said.

"The corrosive influence of money blights our democratic processes," John Gardner, head of the citizens' lobby Common Cause, which had a major role in getting the law passed and defending it, called the decision "a major victory" and recognition "that the old corrupt system of financing elections was destroying the integrity of American politics."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he expected the court decision to give "important new momentum" to the move to extend tax financing to Senate and House campaigns.

"There is no justification for the double standard by which Congress refused to apply this basic reform in the 1974 act to its own elections," he said. "As the court's decision makes clear, no one has a constitutional right to buy an election or own a candidate."

Former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma said the decision "cuts the rich and the friends of the rich down to size and makes it possible for the one person, one-vote principle to become effective. . . . It now means that ordinary people have a fighting chance against the ITTs and the Gulf Oil companies."

The excesses revealed in the Watergate years, the court said, "support the legislative judgment that the situation not only must not be allowed to deteriorate further, but that the present situation cannot be tolerated by a government that professes to be a democracy."

The challenge to the law — enacted last Oct. 15 and covering all federal elections — was brought by Sen. James L. Buckley, the Republican-Conservative from New York and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, an independent candidate for President.

Buckley and his lawyer, Brice M. Clagett, said they would carry the suit to the Supreme Court, probably next week. If the court gives speedy review, as expected, the issue could be resolved before the campaign year blossoms much further.

"I believe that the Supreme Court will join the court of Appeals in finding the federal election campaign act a constitutional means of providing Americans with a clean, truly free system of political participation," said Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., one of the law's authors and an announced candidate for president.

The plaintiffs contended that political contributions and expenditures are so interconnected with guarantees of freedom of speech that any restriction would be unconstitutional.

"We disagree," the court said in its 77-page opinion.

The eight judges were unanimous on the major provisions and issued the ruling in the name of the court, noting it "reflects the participation of various judges so no single judge could fairly be designated as the author."

Individual contributors are permitted to give no more than $1,000 to any candidate in a single election and no more than $25,000 to all candidates. The law also provides overall spending ceilings ranging from $70,000 for congressional races to $20 million for presidential elections.

"These latest efforts on the part of our government to cleanse its democratic processes should at least be given a chance to prove themselves," the court said.

The court found: —On contributions and expenditure limits: Congress has the power to adopt limitations. There is no way to enforce contribution limits and disclosure requirements "if not supplemented by limits on expenditures."

—Disclosure requirements: The disclosure scheme is justified, even though it has an impact on personal privacy in political association. "The court does find unconstitutionally vague and overbroad," a provision that forces disclosure on groups "that do no more than discuss issues of public importance on a wholly nonpartisan basis."

—"Public financing" provisions: "Congress acted within its power when it determined that providing public funding for the three stages of the presidential selection process would advance the general welfare of the nation by reducing the reliance of presidential candidates on large contributors."

Edison Plant Picketed By Engineers Unit

CYPRESS — About 40 members of the striking Operating Engineers union started picketing southern California Edison's main pipeline and storage facility here Friday in a dispute over wage and fringe payment hikes.

The strikers are employed by the Ralph M. Parsons Co., Pasadena, which is under contract to the power company to operate its web of pipelines and 12 connecting fuel storage facilities throughout Southern California.

ON T.V. MONDAY Hicks May Discuss 'Shadow Government'

Orange County Dist. Atty. Gen. Charles Ashman has billed the telecast "The Political Mafia in Orange County."

However, the interview will not deal with what is commonly called the Mafia, Hicks said. "Instead we will be discussing some of the events of the past month, but without getting into the specifics of pending cases," he explained.

Hicks in his recent running public debate with county Supervisor Robert Battin has charged that Dr. Louis Cella is part of the "shadow government" in the county.

Dr. Cella has been a major financial contributor to Battin's and other Democrats' political campaigns.

The television show, which will be televised live, was arranged by Ashman when the political-criminal turmoil in the county became public, Hicks said.

"He called me and said he thought that Orange County was not getting its fair share of news coverage on television," Hicks reported. "Ashman is the author of such best sellers as 'Kissinger-The Adventures of Super-Kraut' and 'The Finest Judges Money Can Buy.'"

SC Official's Son Kept Jailed In Cocaine Sale

SAN CLEMENTE—The son of City Manager Kenneth E. Carr was in Orange County jail Friday night facing a maximum penalty of five years to life on five counts of the sale of cocaine, police said.

Ronald Steven Carr, 22, of 114 E. Avenida Ramona, was arrested with Robert Elliot Cooper, 31, and Angela Marie Martin, 28, of 26892 Calle Salda, Capistrano Beach.

Cooper was charged with two counts of sale of cocaine and one count of possession for sale and Mrs. Martin was charged with possession to sale of cocaine, investigators said.

Bail was set at $50,000 for Carr and Cooper, detectives said. The woman was released on her own recognizance because she has small children, investigators reported.

Officer said additional charges may be filed for conspiracy.

Detective Terrence McAdam of the Laguna Beach police said the arrests were the result of a two-month investigation by Laguna, San Clemente, state and Orange County sheriff's narcotics departments.

McAdam said street value of the cocaine involved was $250,000.

He said undercover agents made five purchases, all involving Carr.

Agents purchased one-quarter ounce of cocaine July 2, one ounce July 29, an ounce Aug. 5, two ounces Aug. 13 and six ounces Aug. 14 when the arrests were made in San Clemente.

Cooper was recently arrested by Laguna Beach police and charged with receiving $40,000 in stolen goods, including oriental rugs and silver taken in burglaries, possession of cocaine and possession of a machine gun, McAdam said. His trial on these charges is pending.

San Clemente police chief Melvin Portner said Friday that he could not make any statement in connection with the arrests due to his "past problems" in his relationship with the city manager.

City Manager Carr recently announced that he was reviewing the past performance of the city's police chief and that there was a "possibility" that Portner would be demoted to lieutenant.

Carr added that the rising crime rate in San Clemente was one area of concern.

Brown Opposes Highway Fund Gasoline Tax

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. said Friday he opposes a bill which would increase California's gasoline tax by two cents a gallon to pay for highway and rapid transit programs.

After the bill narrowly passed an Assembly committee Friday morning, Brown was asked at a news conference if he could think of any circumstance in which he would sign it into law.

"I don't know of any," the Democratic governor replied. "I'm very reluctant to see any new taxes."

The measure by Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, would increase the state gasoline tax next July from seven to nine cents a gallon. The increase would last until 1981.

State officials say the increase would raise $188 million in 1976-77 and nearly $225 million in 1977-78. Much of the money would shore up California's highway building and maintenance program.

Inflation and the decline in gasoline use have depleted the highway fund and prompted the state Department of Transportation to halt new highway construction and announce the elimination of 3,300 jobs.

The bill was sent to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, its last stop before the Assembly floor, on a 7-6 vote of the Revenue and Taxation Committee. It passed the Senate as a one-cent increase.

Brown told the news conference he isn't inclined to sign the bill even though it would create jobs.

No Peril Seen For Americans In Bangladesh

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Friday that American citizens in Bangladesh "appeared to be safe" after Thursday night's coup during which President Sheikh Mujibur Rahman was killed.

There are about 820 Americans in Bangladesh, including 48 officials, 53 dependents of the officials and some 720 private Americans, mainly businessmen and missionaries.

The question of recognition of the new regime "has not yet risen," Fumeth said. He said that "the picture is not entirely clear" and added that there was no "direct request" for recognition.

In Pakistan, the government of Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto met late into the evening and announced it was according the new Dacca regime immediate recognition. Bhutto urged other Islamic and Third World nations to follow suit.

He said in a statement that "as a first and spontaneous gesture to the fraternal people of Bangladesh," Pakistan will send gifts of rice and cloth to Bangladesh.

A military-backed government took power in Bangladesh in a bloody pre-dawn coup Friday and accused leftist President Mujibur Rahman, who was killed in the uprising, of allowing corruption to ruin the impoverished young country.

"There was corruption, nepotism and attempts to concentrate powers on one head," newly installed President Khondakar Mushtaque Ahmed declared in a 10-minute national radio broadcast heard in India.

Ahmed's remarks were directly solely at Mujib, his long-time political associate and mentor. The broadcast indicated the coup was carried out by the armed forces just to get rid of the 65-year-old sheik.

Solon Scores Veto Of Oil Price Curbs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Ford's intended veto of a measure continuing price controls on domestic oil could cost the U.S. economy $40 billion in 1976, Sen. Alan Cranston said Friday.

"If the President's veto is allowed to stand, we are headed for another round of energy inflation, recession and more unemployment," the senator said.

Ford announced Friday in Vail, Colo., he will veto a bill extending oil price controls and will remove a $2 oil import tariff if Congress upholds his veto.

The President said the twin actions would increase the price of petroleum products only a few cents a gallon "contrary to what others have predicted."

Economic observers have estimated that oil prices might rise as much as 7 cents a gallon with the removal of controls Aug. 31 on "old oil," produced from wells in operation before 1972.

The import tariff has added about 3 cents a gallon to the cost of gasoline, so its removal would mean Ford's proposals might mean about a 4-cent net increase. Other factors could change these figures, however.

Little Prosecution 'Didn't Prove Case'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Jurors who acquitted Joan Little of all charges in the death of her jailer said Friday that they did not all believe the 21-year-old black woman's testimony.

But they said there was no difficulty in unanimously finding her innocent on the first vote because the prosecution failed to prove its case.

"The key was that the burden of proof was on the state and they didn't come close," jury foreman Mark Neilsen said in an interview.

Marcia Pearce, 32, wife of a country grocer, said the eight-day interval between the death of white jailer Clarence Allgood and Miss Little's surrender bothered her.

"I don't believe everything she said was true. In my opinion, what the verdict came from was lack of evidence from the state," she said.

Miss Little smiled and hugged her attorneys, wiping away tears after the verdict was announced at 11:55 a.m.

She was dry-eyed and showed little emotion as she was escorted from the courthouse by four bodyguards and one of her attorneys. She barely acknowledged the cheers of her supporters as she moved quickly into a waiting car.

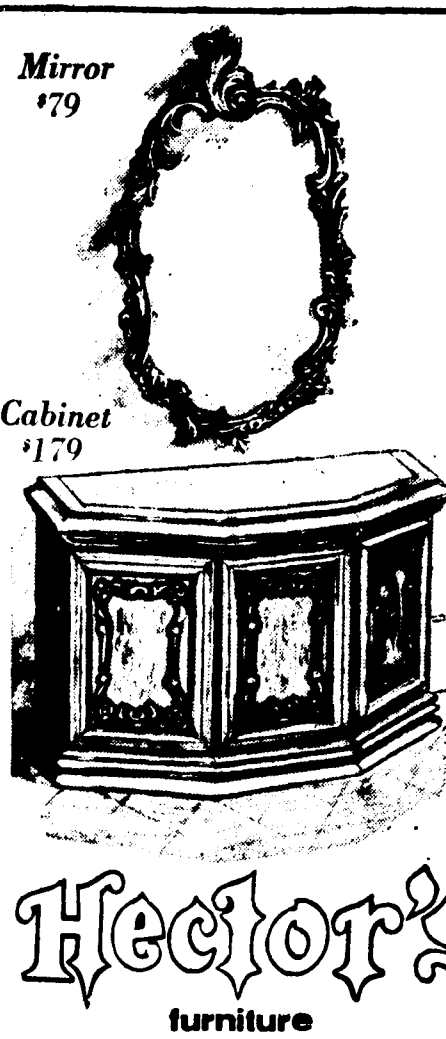

Miss Little still faces a 7-to-10-year prison term on the breaking and entering conviction for which she was confined at the time of the jailer's slaying. She is free on $15,000 bond pending her appeal before the State Court of Appeals.

She said she was going to California next Friday to begin a series of speaking engagements for prison reform.

"The system has railroaded some people to jail for a long time in some instances," she said.

FBI's Attacks

— Someone KNOWS who you are!"

The third cartoon shows two robed Klan members drinking at a bar says, "Which Klan leaders are spending your money tonight? THINK!"

According to the documents, FBI headquarters in 1965 mailed another set of five Klan caricatures to FBI field offices for distribution.

The Cointelpro operations were concentrated primarily in the South, where the Klan was vigorously fighting the desegregation efforts in the 1960s. One of the documents said 17 FBI field offices were participating in the program but did not list them.

Other documents said activities were carried out in Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Virginia, Louisiana and North Carolina.

The documents showed that the FBI created a dummy organization called the National Committee for Domestic Tranquility.

The committee "would provide a vehicle for attacking Klan policies and disputes from a low-key, common sense and patriotic position," the memo said. The FBI through the phony committee distributed bulletins "under the signature of Harmon Blennerhasset, an obscure figure in American history who gave financial support to Aaron Burr," the memo said.

The committee's mailings bore the date of Dayton, and the FBI memo observed "it is noted that there are 19 localities in the United States bearing the name Dayton."

The committee mailings which questioned the Christianity and patriotism of Klan members, were sent to field offices for distribution to Klan members.

The documents contain a 1965 letter from Hoover to the attorney general, who then was Nicholas Katzenbach, and to an aide to President Johnson claiming success in Cointelpro and intelligence gathering activities.

"Nearly 2,000 of our informants and sources are being operated to obtain up-to-date intelligence data concerning racial matters," the letters said. "Of these, 774 have been developed in just the past year — an average of more than two each day for every day in the past 12 months."

He claimed to have informers in all 14 Klan groups and "in top-level positions of leadership in seven of them."

The documents include a congratulatory reply memo to Hoover on the letterhead of the attorney general although there is no signature on it.

The memo suggests, "Perhaps at some point it may be possible to place these achievements on the public record, so that the bureau can receive its due credit."

The documents contained much less information about activities to disrupt the States Rights Party.

Police Probing Weight Control Doctor's Slaying

GARDEN GROVE—Police are keeping a tight lid on the details of the bludgeoning death Thursday morning of a 51-year-old weight control doctor in his home.

Dr. Robert Trace, who owns the California Weight Clinic chain, was discovered beaten to death in his home at 9671 Stanford Ave., shortly after noon, Thursday, by a neighbor friend.

Police reported the doctor had suffered both head and internal injuries in what appeared to have been a beating with a blunt instrument. The time of death was estimated at between 1 and 3 a.m., Thursday morning.

Detective Sgt. Philip Mason said investigators were tracking down numerous leads in the case, but as yet had little solid information. The slaying appeared outwardly, however, to have involved a burglary of the home, he said.

Dr. Trace was living alone in the home.

County Cyclist Killed In Crash

SANTA ANA — Stanley Maruyoshi, 51, of Orange, was killed here Friday evening when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a van in the 2700 block of N. Main Street.

He was declared dead upon arrival at St. Joseph Hospital, coroner's deputies said.

Bronfman, Kidnapers Reported In Contact

NEW YORK (AP) — Whiskey millionaire Edgar Bronfman reportedly has been in contact again with the kidnapers of his 21-year-old son but there is no indication of when Samuel Bronfman II might be returned to his family, the New York Daily News said in its editions today.

A spokesman at the family's Yorktown Heights estate said he could not confirm or deny that Bronfman had received a telephone call from the kidnapers Friday.

However, The News quoted Jonathan Rinehart, Bronfman's public relations adviser, as saying that Bronfman had spoken to the kidnapers directly at some point.

The newspaper also said there was speculation that all employees on campaign work.

This work, he added, was to be done at his campaign headquarters and not on the job. And they were to be paid out of campaign funds with no charge to the county for that time, he added.

"The district attorney is trying to get me on a technicality," he said.

Battin cited a provision of the 1973-74 county salary resolution which declares that employees of supervisors serve at their supervisor's discretion and work as many or as few hours as he orders and that they receive no overtime.

Battin said he was going to the press with his allegations of campaign law violations against Hicks because he felt he had no one else to turn to.

The county grand jury refused to hear the charges, he said, and Republican Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger is too close to Republican Hicks.

The allegations against Hicks, prepared in the form of an indictment by the county counsel's office at Battin's request, stems from political contributions by Hicks' employees to his re-election campaign in 1970.

That is illegal, Battin claims, citing the law, and Hicks signed the statement affirming that he had reviewed it and knew about the employee contributions.

In response, Hicks said he didn't know about the employee donations until afterward. He signed the campaign statement, Hicks said, because he felt the donations should be reported.

Hicks also said he knew nothing about the federal investigation of informers' funds claimed by Battin. "I have no idea what he's talking about," Hicks said. "As far as I know, no one is investigating me."

(The board of supervisors last week launched a secret investigation of possible misuse of funds. Sources told The Register this probe also centered on the district attorney's use of funds to pay off informers.)

Hicks also denied that his investigators used any improper pressure to intimidate witnesses to cooperate with the district attorney's office.

Battin charged that some former aides, who are also law students, were warned that they might have difficulty being admitted to the state bar if they refused to cooperate.

Two of those former employees made similar statements to The Register independently of each other.

The charges were denied by Hicks. "Certainly they didn't apply any improper pressure on people," Hicks said, while emphasizing that he had no direct role in the case.

He said the individuals must have "misunderstood something."

Overpayments

Bynum said SSI had determined that the overpayments were mainly the result of efforts to incorporate state programs into the new federal program's computer system.

"We are recovering some pieces of this ($285 million) every day that goes by," Bynum said. But he noted that not all of the lost funds are subject to recovery and said he could not give an accurate estimate of what the final overpayment loss will be.

Bynum said that if aged, blind or disabled persons received overpayments through no fault of their own and are not financially able to return the funds, SSI cannot collect.

"If you look at the figure, the $285 million, and compare it to the almost $8 billion paid out to date in this program, it comes out to something like 3 percent," Bynum said.

"We're not satisfied with that and I'm not attempting to justify an overpayment of some $285 million in that way," he said. "But I would want to point out that dealing with individuals in matters of income, resources and living arrangements, in a continuing program, there will be some errors made."

According to the News, two men representing the family picked up either a large envelope or a package late Thursday night at a Manhattan post office. The newspaper said they took it to the sprawling Manhattan penthouse where Bronfman has set up a command post.

The News said postal authorities had been alerted to look for the envelope or package, reportedly sent by the kidnapers in response to Bronfman's plea for "additional evidence that Sam is still alive and well."

He disappeared at 11:30 p.m. Aug. 8, one week ago, when he left his father's estate here to drive to his mother's home in Purchase, 20 miles away across Westchester county.

Infant Who Inhaled Baby Powder Seriously Ill

ORANGE — A 1½-year-old child who inhaled a puff of baby powder from a plastic squeeze container was still in serious condition at St. Joseph Hospital here Friday night.

Anthony Williams, baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Williams, 1259 S. Brookhurst Ave., Anaheim, was playing with the container of baby powder Wednesday evening when he squeezed the plastic receptacle and the powder settled into his lungs and bronchial tubes.

One lung was blocked and the child's heart rate jumped to twice its normal rate, his mother said.

Family members said the child nearly died Thursday night as doctors fought to save him. The powder is so fine that controls canceled, consumers would see the entire six cents added to their gasoline bills, according to Ray Hotelling, western marketing manager for Mobil.

Gas Price Hikes Predicted

Riverside Riot Suspects Held

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Police held suspects and evidence Friday but conceded they had no long term solutions for the hatred which erupted into a four-hour gun battle with Casa Blanca residents Thursday.

The investigation into Thursday's incident continued with three men held for investigation of attempted murder. A handgun was retained for a ballistics examination.

"I wish I could tell you the answer to the violence but I can't," said Police Chief Fred Ferguson. He said seven policemen have been shot in the 6,000 member, predominantly Mexican-American community since 1971. Sniping at police cars is common, officers say.

Clean Air Act

contemplated: reduction of gasoline sold within the Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento Valley, San Joaquin Valley and San Diego regions; operation by the state of an inspection and maintenance program designed to reduce auto emissions; restrictions on the use of motorcycles; a state program for catalyst retrofit units for cars; and imposition of surcharges on parking spaces.

California was directed to undertake these tasks, report compliance and submit certain reports to EPA.

At least 208 parties petitioned the court of appeals for a review. Some were dismissed and when parking supply regulations were suspended and parking surcharge regulations withdrawn, more petitions were dismissed.

But the EPA insisted the rest of the regulations were valid and directed the state to obey.

The position of the state and others is that the Clean Air Act does not authorize the administrator to impose sanctions for failure to comply with the regulations.

The three-member panel composed of Judges Eugene Wright, John Kilkenny and Joseph M. Smith decided the act does not authorize imposition of such sanctions on a state or officials for failure to comply with directions contained in such a transportation control plan. They said that they were avoiding the constitutional issues in their ruling.

"Our holding recognizes that the pollution-creating activities of the state of California, instrumentalities and subdivisions and its municipalities are subject to valid regulations, promulgated by the administrator, the court said.

"Tersely put, the act, as we see it, permits sanctions against a state that pollutes the air, but not against a state that chooses not to govern polluters as the administrator directs," it added.

The judges said a search of the act failed to reveal a single incidence where Congress had explicitly vested sanction power to the administrator against a nonenforcing state.

They said their interpretation was in no-way inconsistent with recognition that Congress could give the EPA power to obtain consent of the reluctant state by conditioning certain federal expenditures on the granting of such consent.

School Taxes

have formally or informally rejected possible tax rate hikes under the bill. They are Capistrano, Irvine, Newport-Mesa and Santa Ana Unified School Districts.

Capistrano trustees opposed boosting the tax rate 9 cents; Irvine, 2.5 cents; Newport-Mesa, 2 cents; and Santa Ana, 10.3 cents.

Two other districts—Saddleback and Placentia—have not made a decision yet.

Under a complex funding formula, these districts fail to qualify because of excessively high assessed valuation support per student. Such, however, received "basic aid" of $125 per student from the state in its regular annual allocation.

The county's other 21 districts receive the $125 allocation plus supplemental aid because of low assessed valuation per student.

These districts will receive up to $125 million in additional state aid, according to county school officials.

expected to discuss the possibility of a crude oil price hike of their own.

If that happens, said Hotelling, it would drive gasoline prices even higher.

He said it is possible that free-market competition once the price controls are lifted could keep an increase from happening, but added that he didn't think it is probable.

Mobil estimates a three-to-four-cent-a-gallon hike on its gasoline within 45 days, said Hotelling, if both the tariff and the price controls are lifted.

At Exxon, a spokesman said a 3.5-cent-a-gallon hike is predicted, "but there is no time frame. It could be very soon, or it could be a couple of months or more."

Union Oil Co. last week published large advertisements in major newspapers across the state, pledging that the price of the company's gasoline, diesel fuel and heating oil products will not be increased by more than two cents a gallon through the end of the year.

A spokesman for the firm said Thursday that Union Oil stands pat on that promise, making it the only refiner that has publicly placed a voluntary limit on price hikes—at least for the next four and a half months.

At Gulf, a spokesman said the company has no specific figures, but does expect some kind of an increase soon, "although nothing that would make a big impact. Definitely not as much as the 10 cents a gallon some people are saying."

Atlantic Richfield and Texaco officials said their firms refuse to speculate on future pricing arrangements, although the Texaco spokesman said "the New York office is working on something (about price policy) and we should have word soon."

The end of domestic price controls on "old" crude oil—oil discovered and under production prior to the Arab embargo—will have a major impact on pricing, petroleum producers said.

At Exxon, for example, 40 percent of the firm's oil is imported, 36 percent is "old" domestic and the remainder is "new" domestic. Both the imported and the "new" crude oil sells for about $13 a barrel. The controlled "old" oil price is fixed at $5.25 per barrel.

Exxon officials said that when controls are dropped, the price of "old" oil will jump to about $12 per barrel, in line with the cost of other oil sources.

Union Oil officials said they promised to keep price hikes to two cents a gallon or less because they are convinced that competitive pressure will restrain prices when the controls are lifted.

Spokesmen for other firms, however, said they expect a price surge before the restraining effects of any competition are noticed by consumers.

Hinshaw Trial

dict" is when a jury, pressed by the time and spirit of the Christmas season, quickly returns a not guilty verdict.

Hinshaw's trial is expected to take three weeks to a month, Capizzi estimated.

He also reported that Morgan and Richard Murphy, the attorney for current assessor Jack Vallerga, have said they would seek a continuance in another pending trial involving both Hinshaw and Vallerga.

The pair is charged in a grand jury indictment of conspiring to have employees of the assessor's office work on Hinshaw's successful 1972 congressional campaign on county time. Vallerga was then the deputy assessor.

Their attorneys want to continue the trial — now scheduled for Sept. 28—until after the completion of Hinshaw's trial, Capizzi said.

"They (the attorneys) hope that if Hinshaw is convicted and Vallerga sentenced, we would dismiss the conspiracy indictment charges," Capizzi commented. "We will not dismiss the charges."

The reference to Vallerga's sentencing was in connection with his conviction in Ventura, this week on charges of theft of public monies, grand theft-embezzlement and felony conflict of interest. The crimes occurred in his capacity as assessor.

Sentencing is scheduled Sept. 16 in Ventura County Superior Court on the embezzlement. Upon sentencing on any of the charges, all felonies, Vallerga would be removed from office under state law.

Capizzi said that if Vallerga is removed, another non-criminal indictment against him would become a "most issue" and the charges would be dismissed.

The indictment calls for Vallerga's removal from office on conviction. It accuses him of "willful misconduct" in office.

Truck-Taxi Driver Has New Career: Professional Listener

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Kirk Martin listens, in person and by appointment only. "I will talk, if a customer asks me to, or if he looks like he wants me to," Martin says. "I can talk eyeball to eyeball to anyone who comes through my front door."

Martin, 48, a professional truck and taxicab driver who sells one-family homes and farms on the side, began his listening enterprise with a newspaper ad.

"Did you know men are al-

Murder-Rapist Gets Life Term

SANTA MONICA (AP)—A transient who repaid the hospitality of a young Venice couple by murdering the man and raping his wife in the presence of their two small children has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

The sentence was imposed this week on Kent D. Chisenhall, 23, by Santa Monica Superior Court Judge Bernard Selber.

Authorities said Chisenhall, who was convicted July 16 of first degree murder, fatally shot William Barnes, 25, last Dec. 5, and then raped Barnes' wife.

They said Chisenhall was staying with the couple in their motor home parked by a beachside road in Venice.

lotted 27,000 words per day, and women 31,000? I will listen to you talk for thirty minutes without comment for $5.00," read the ad.

A trickle of calls from the curious followed the first ad. That was about two weeks ago.

"I get about 10 to 20 calls a day now, but only a few of those make appointments," Martin says.

He says his clients are from all walks of life, many of them troubled people who need someone to hear them out, just once.

"Just the other day a man from the upper income group came because he felt stilted in his exclusive neighborhood,"

Martin said. "He couldn't grow a garden in his yard or hang his laundry out to dry if he wanted for fear of what the neighbors would think."

Martin says he's not sure why he began listening professionally.

"I guess because I feel the Lord gave me a capacity to work with people," he said. "I almost went into psychiatry."

And this is an inexpensive alternative to a psychiatrist. Martin said he has a bachelor's degree in business administration, and studied sociology, math, law and psychiatry at the University of Missouri. He says that the key to good listening is to avoid interference — "You can't communicate if there's a lot of static and noise."

He calls himself "mildly psychic" and says his ancestry — Jewish, Irish, Scottish, English, Cherokee Indian and French — helps him relate to anyone.

"I once read that a man was committed to an asylum and, instead of spending 10 or 20 years there, he was released six hours later just because someone took the time to talk to him," Martin said. "Sometimes communication is the key."

Florida Law Grounds Driver Of Death Car

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A multimillionaire involved in an auto crash which killed a Fort Lauderdale youth has been banned from driving in Florida.

In a legal maneuver described as unique, Broward Circuit Court Judge Gene Fischer ruled Thursday that the driving license of Leo Goodwin III, 39, whose driver's license already had been suspended at the time of the fatal crash, was a public nuisance.

The ban came as an injunction against Goodwin's privilege to drive and Fischer said it will remain in effect until a hearing can be held on a permanent injunction.

A petition, which was not entered into evidence, was also presented to the court signed by 1,200 area residents asking that Goodwin be banned from Florida roads.

Goodwin, whose license was suspended last Nov. 26 after failing to pay a $100 fine for driving without proper insurance, was the driver of the sports

DEPUTY CORONER WAYNE DUNHAM POSES WITH JARS OF REMAINS OF TWO VICTIMS OF A CRASH THAT KILLED FORMER FORT LAUDERDALE COMPANION ON JULY 20, POLICE HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL STAR JON SAID.

UNSOLVED MURDER VICTIMS' REMAINS?

Funeral Planned For Jars Of Ashes

CAZADERO, Calif. (AP) — 150 but not of county officials, who disapprove. When Rex Nance bought the general store in this tiny Northern California community, he was told that there were "a couple of jars full of people somewhere in the store."

He found them — two quart-size jars containing ashy remains of three victims of a bizarre murder still unsolved after 65 years. Nance said he felt "kind of weird" and decided they should be buried.

From those humble beginnings grew elaborate funeral plans that have captured the collective fancy of this town of for safekeeping. Nance bought the store last year and found the jars in the attic last March. "We are going to make this funeral the biggest thing that's happened in Cazadero since, well, since the Kendalls were murdered," said Gary L. Rodgers, one of the organizers of the funeral.

Nance and a friend, Wayne Dunham, obtained a burial permit. But Sonoma County officials later revoked it because there are no death records and the two are not relatives of the Kendalls.

"There's no health hazard," Nance said, "and there's no positive identification of these ashes as human remains, so we say to hell with it, we're going to bury 'em anyway." Dunham asserted. "The Cazaderans know what's in those jars, and they're having a ball," he said. Urns containing the ashes will be carried to a burial site outside town on a mule-drawn buckboard. Rodgers said he will recite a brief eulogy and his nephew, Dean Forshee, will play a dirge he composed for the services — "The Ballad of the Kendalls."

Chicagoan Patents Safer, Less Polluting Pull Tab

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank J. Lockwood's children had trouble removing pull tabs from soda pop cans, so he invented one that is not only easier to get off but safer and potentially less polluting.

Called the "fingernail-less tab," it is a small piece of sticky tape attached to the tab ring on top of the can.

Lockwood, owner of a machine shop and engineering company, said he got the idea because his children bite their fingernails and have difficulty lifting the metal ring attached to tabs on cans.

Although no soft drink or beer company has yet adopted his invention, he has applied for a patent and learned that no similar device has been patented.

Lockwood said he read a newspaper story of a medical report on the dangers of pull tabs, which sometimes are dropped into beverage cans before the beverage is drunk. The report described three cases in which the tab had been accidentally swallowed. Lockwood said he had almost swallowed tabs dropped into drink cans.

His invention would mitigate this danger, he said, because the adhesive tape attached to the pull tab can be used to stick the tab to the side of the can. Then the tab can be thrown into a receptacle with the can when the container is empty.

Lockwood noted that the pull tabs create a litter problem because they are thrown away separately in recreation areas and are dangerous to persons walking barefooted, especially when they become buried in sand at the beach.

He has tested the tape attached to cans in ice water, which had no effect on loosening it, he said.

The Soviet Union, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Denmark, Greenland, Canada and the United States have land areas within the Arctic Circle.

ALFRED BUSH FORD HOLDS BAG OF PRAYER BEADS He Is Adherent Of Krishna Temple In Detroit

Kin Of Ford, Reuther Lead Aesthetic Life

DETROIT (AP) — The daughter of Walter Reuther and the great-grandson of Henry Ford pray together at the Krishna Consciousness Temple here.

The religious sect puts spiritual purity above material wealth, and both Elizabeth Reuther and Alfred Bush Ford say they wouldn't find their ancestors' work as fulfilling as the Krishna life.

Ford, 25, is one of five great-grandchildren of the founder of the Ford Motor Co. His father is Walter Buhl Ford II of the wealthy banking Fords, and his mother is Josephine Clay Ford, granddaughter of Henry Ford.

Miss Reuther, 28, is the daughter of the longtime president of the United Auto Workers. Reuther and his wife died in a plane crash five years ago.

Miss Reuther and Ford have never discussed their backgrounds with each other, since socializing between single male and female members is forbidden in the temple.

Their lives include rituals of songs, dances, vegetarian feasts and continuous chanting of prayers. The adherents of Krishna wear traditional, liquor, drugs, gambling and sex outside of marriage.

Miss Reuther, 28, says she is continuing her father's crusade. "My father was working on a mundane level in many ways, but he respected the inner dignity of man," she said.

"I have given up many of my personal desires."

They have both assumed Krishna names. Ford's is Ambarisa and Miss Reuther's is Lekhasravanti.

Miss Reuther lives at the temple on Detroit's East Side. It is one block from Solidarity House, headquarters of the union her father built.

Ford still lives at his family's home in Grosse Pointe Farms and he wears regular clothing. He also owns an import store.

LA Diet Plan Firm Convicted Of Fraud

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Los Angeles men and their company have been convicted on 18 counts of mail fraud for selling a diet plan that featured a fruit cocktail through the mails.

Convicted this week were Conrad L. Gorman and Robert W. Kane. U.S. Dist. Court Judge A. Andrew Hawk set sentencing for Sept. 8. They head a firm called Outpost Development Co., which had paid a civil fine of $5,000 earlier this year in settlement of a Superior Court suit.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Cameron Jr. said the "My Secret" diet plan included a fruit cocktail of apple juice, grape juice and mashed banana.

He said those customers instructed to eat nothing but the fruit cocktail risked severe

Report Cites Offshore Drilling Perils

By LARRY PETERSON
Register Staff Writer
LOS ANGELES—Offshore oil and gas drilling could take a heavy environmental toll on the entire Orange County coastline, according to a report released here Friday.

The assessment was part of a final environmental impact statement (EIS) issued by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) of the Department of the Interior.

The five-volume document deals with a federal proposal to lease 1.6 million acres off Southern California for exploration and production.

BLM officials have indicated that the main issues and alternatives discussed in the report will be summarized for the use of acting Secretary of the Interior Kent Frizell.

Frizell then will review the EIS with state and local officials and make a decision whether to proceed with the leases sometime in September or October.

Of 81 potential offshore lease tracts identified in the EIS as having high potential for three kinds of adverse impacts, 15 are located in waters less than 10 miles off the Orange County shore. Considered in the report are 297 potential lease tracts.

The three kinds of adverse impacts discussed by the EIS are: environmental hazards; disruption of shipping, commercial and sport fishing and outdoor recreation; and "esthetic degradation."

Along the Orange County Coast, the EIS said, there are a number of nestingsites for endangered species such as the California Least Tern and the Light-footed Clapper Rail.

These sites could be seriously affected by either oil spills or onshore construction for oil processing facilities which could destroy the critical habitats of these species, the report said.

Major spills or even low levels of oil pollution could result in large-scale losses to fisheries in Orange County coastal waters due to the destruction of young fish, decreasing resistance to disease and tainting of fish flesh, the EIS said.

The waters off Orange County, according to the report, lie in the most productive of five major potential lease areas in terms of both sport and commercial fishing.

Prevailing winds and oil currents, the EIS added, would carry oil spill pollution toward Orange County beaches, boats and marinas. "Thousands" of boats in Newport Harbor could be contaminated, the document said.

"If beaches remained contaminated for long periods," the EIS said, "many local tourist-oriented businesses would experience severe problems."

"Thousands" of homes in the southern part of the county, the report states, face directly into the lease area, and "the view from these homes is considered one of their primary assets."

The EIS does not spell out the probability of an oil spill in Orange County waters, but it does indicate that in an offshore field with two billion barrels of oil, there is "about a 70 per cent chance" of a spill.

The EIS estimates the Orange County offshore coastal tracts have between 700 million and 6.2 billion barrels of oil resources.

Earthquakes could worsen the potential for oil spills, according to the EIS, especially in lease areas where oil is pumped ashore via pipelines.

Almost all the oil produced in the Orange County coastal waters will be pumped to shore via pipelines, the report said.

Active earthquake faults, the EIS indicated, are scattered throughout the lease area centered off Orange County, and high-magnitude earthquakes have occurred along its northeast border, the Newport-Inglewood fault area.

On the other hand, the EIS said, the intensive use of pipelines to transport oil to land would minimize the danger of spills from tankers and barges.

Although the environmental risks of the proposed leases may be great for Orange County waters, the EIS indicates, the economic stakes may be equally high.

The document confirms earlier reports that the lease area off Orange County is potentially the most productive of the five proposed lease areas.

Estimates of offshore reserves used in the EIS vary widely, but all indicate that more than 40 per cent of the recoverable oil in the five proposed lease areas is in the one closest to Orange County.

According to a map released with the study prepared earlier this year for the Western Oil and Gas Association, 11 of 61 proposed drilling platforms would be built 7 to 12 miles off the county's shores.

Larger concentrations of drilling platforms would be built in areas 50 or more miles out to sea and smaller groupings 7 to 12 miles off Los Angeles and Ventura counties.

Also discussed in the EIS are the impact of exploration and production on the four other potential lease areas, including island areas off Santa Barbara, where the coastline was polluted by a massive oil spill in 1969.

All tracts proposed for leases, the report concludes, pose varying degrees of risk of damage to the environment, the EIS concludes.

The EIS also deals with the technology of oil-spill cleanup, possible modifications of the lease proposals and alternatives to offshore production as a means of achieving national energy self-sufficiency.

WALTER SCOTT DURING HOTEL ROOM INTERVIEW
He Is Expected To Testify In Hearst Case

HE SAYS IN INTERVIEW

Scott Spurns FBI, Will Help Brother

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Walter Scott, who had earlier accused his family of aiding fugitive newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, denounced the FBI Friday and said he was going to New York City to "do what I can to help my brother."

Scott, a 42-year-old ex-Marine, said he changed his mind about giving the FBI further assistance because of their "incompetent handling of the investigation" and because of the psychological impact the investigation was having on his family.

He added that he "probably would not" cooperate with a federal grand jury that is scheduled to meet Aug. 19 in Harrisburg, Pa.

The grand jury is investigating reports that Miss Hearst hid last summer in a South Canaan, Pa., farmhouse rented by Micki Scott, wife of Scott's brother, Jack. Several key witnesses in the Hearst investigation, including Jack and Micki Scott, have been subpoenaed to testify.

Walter Scott phoned the Philadelphia bureau of The Associated Press on Friday morning to refute charges by his family that he is an alcoholic and psychopathic liar who has been "in and out of mental hospitals."

The allegations were made Thursday by Scott's father from his Las Vegas, Nev., home.

Scott was later interviewed in a Camden hotel, where he sat on a rumpled bed in his undershorts. He was registered under the assumed name, William Butler.

He accused his family of trying to discredit him through "malicious allegations" but admitted to having been hospitalized three times when he was "depressed and suicidal." He denied having an alcohol problem.

His first hospital stay was in San Diego during the late 1950s after he slashed his wrists, Scott said. Within the last "couple of years," he said, he was hospitalized for several days each time at a Veterans Administration hospital in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and at the Delaware State Hospital.

There was no apparent security for Scott in his hotel room, but the FBI, contacted later, said it still considered him under protective custody.

"At this point he has not communicated to us one way or the other as to whether he still wants protection or not, so officially he's still under protective custody," an agent said. Walter said Jack Scott, former athletic director at Oberlin College in Ohio, became involved with "remnants" of the so-called "Symbionese Liberation Army" after SLA shootout in Las Angeles last year. He said his brother's involvement was "purely on humanitarian grounds."

Scott said when he began cooperating with the FBI about a year ago, he was told that his family would not be prosecuted.

"I cooperated because those clods (the SLA) placed my family in jeopardy. I have since decided that the decision was wrong."

"I don't know what to expect from my brother. He could be so angry that he would do something that would cause him more problems."

While he was packing his belongings in a rumpled shopping bag, Scott received a long-distance call from Micki Scott. He appeared to have some difficulty convincing her that he was leaving for New York. Micki declined to comment on her reaction to Walter's apparent break with the FBI.

Told of Scott's statement that he no longer planned to cooperate with federal authorities, an FBI spokesman replied:

"We felt it might be coming. We're trying to contact him now and find out what the story is."

"You sit in a room by yourself and all of a sudden the walls start closing in on you. It's very possible he's reached that point now. We were hoping he'd hold out until next week when the grand jury meets in Harrisburg."

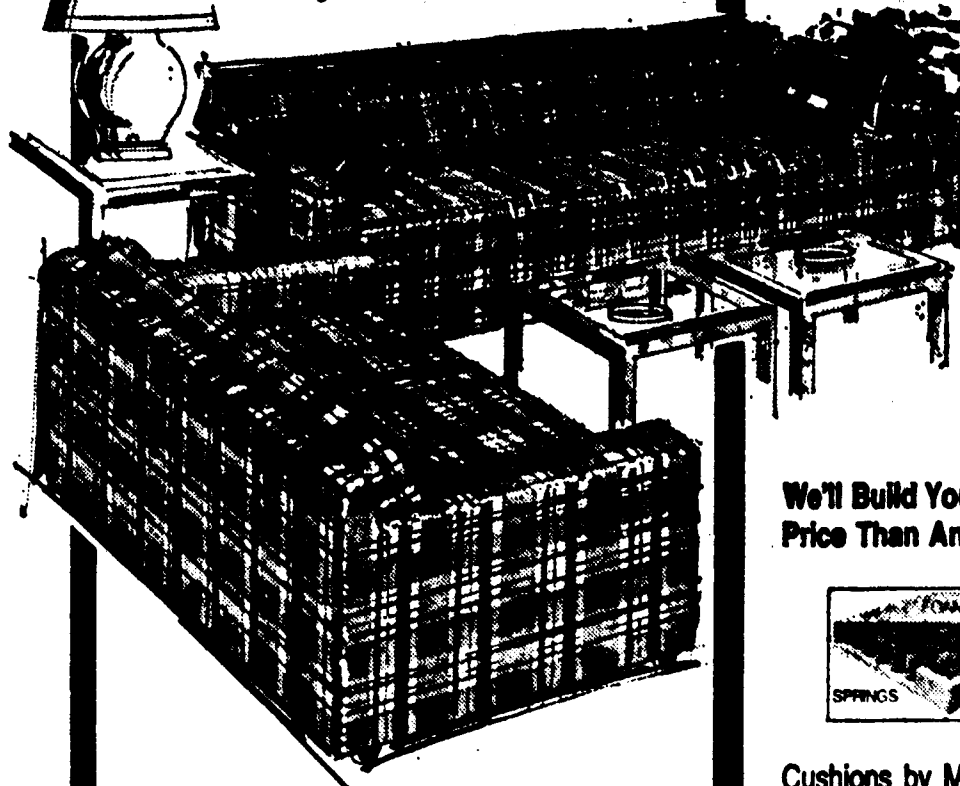

During the interview, Scott said he thought federal authorities were misusing the grand jury. He claimed the federal government was using it to coerce information from people who "might know something marginal about people who were involved with Patty."

Mrs. Randolph Hearst, mother of the missing heiress, confirmed Thursday from San Francisco that she has been subpoenaed. But she said she has no idea what she will be asked.

Until he phoned The AP, Scott's presence had been a secret. He disappeared last week only to turn up in custody of the FBI at Philadelphia. At a press conference supervised by FBI agents Wednesday, Scott suggested his brother, sister-in-law and parents were involved with the missing heiress. He was then whisked off to an undisclosed location.

Scott said he stayed in two Philadelphia hotels before moving to Camden. He said two FBI agents entertained him Thursday afternoon by driving him through the countryside of South Jersey. That night, according to Scott, he phoned his parents in Las Vegas but found his mother "too emotionally upset to speak on the telephone."

Refugee Report 'Error' Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee chairman said Friday that his report of a setback in negotiations for the return of some 2,000 refugees to Vietnam "might be in error."

Chairman Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., of the House Immigration subcommittee said Thursday he had been told in Guam that South Vietnam rejected a U.S. agency's offer to be a go-between in the negotiations.

Spokesmen for both the United Nations and State Department said they had not heard of any such action by South Vietnam.

"It could be that my quotation might be in error," Eilberg said in a telephone interview. "I was told that by a ranking Air Force officer and I took it to be official."

A spokesman for the Indochina Refugee Task Force in Washington said it is still "feeding and clothing" refugees and processing their applications for return to Vietnam through the United Nations agency, and had gotten no word that there has been any change in the negotiating situation.

Jury Indicts Grain Inspector

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A chief grain inspector was indicted by a federal grand jury Friday on charges of public bribery and giving false testimony. The indictment wound up the first phase of a nationwide probe of the grain export business.

Louis H. C. Matherne of Gretna, La., chief inspector for Delta Weighing and Inspection Bureau since 1969, was accused in the five-count indictment of taking $6,500 from a grain export coordinator for himself and other Delta inspectors in 1972 and 1973.

The indictment said Matherne received the money from Alan Richard Iliff, a grain export coordinator for Tabor and Co., a Nevada grain exporting corporation.

TEEN-AGE TROUBLE SHOOTER

YOUTH CLUB

Dear Trouble Shooter
The Garden Grove Youth Commission just recently reported that two major problems exist for the youth of the community. One is "finding a job," and the other is "finding entertainment and recreation close to home."

A young man in our city recently filed for a license to open a dance club for "under 21s" on Garden Grove Boulevard. His idea is to provide live musical groups an opportunity to play for the public. Here is employment and entertainment. The request was denied. The reason? Several "voting age" people came to the hearing and expressed fears of teenage drug addicts, vandalism and theft. They have "nothing against young people." Some of their "best friends are teenagers." "Let them go someplace else." This is about as prejudiced as you can get.

The negative decision is being appealed to the Garden Grove city council. A hearing will be held at the council meeting on Aug. 19 at 7 p.m. in Garden Grove city hall. The same objections will be there again.

If a large number of young people don't show up at this meeting, a few people will end forever an opportunity for a lot of young people.

We cannot vote in elections, but we can be seen and heard at city hall.

Please urge your readers to attend this meeting. It is our last chance.

V.C.

Garden Grove
The Trouble Shooter wouldn't be a bit surprised to see a number of adults turn out along with young people in favor of a no-alcohol under-21 club in Garden Grove, where the city motto is "Youth and Opportunity."

BUG BITES

Dear Trouble Shooter

My mother says you said Vitamin B will keep mosquitoes and fleas from biting you. We are going to the Sacramento Delta to stay on my uncle's riverboat and my cousin says the mosquitoes are terrible this year. I hate to get bitten. Which kind of Vitamin B do you use?

N.A.H.

Newport Beach
Vitamin B-1, the Trouble Shooter's told, discourages mosquitoes from sampling your blood. They don't seem to like the taste of it. Check with your doctor for the recommended dosage. He'll probably tell you to take about 5 mg a day, starting several days before you leave for the trip.

CAN YOU HELP?

Dear Trouble Shooter

I have purchased materials for a jacket I saw in the Vogue Summer Pattern Book. The pattern has been discontinued. I had planned to make it for school in September and am hoping one of your readers might sell it to me or let me borrow it.

It's Vogue Pattern 2828, Size 12. They can call me at 638-5289 and ask for Karen.

K. DeC.

Santa Ana
Chances are that a reader can come up with the pattern. The Trouble Shooter hopes so.

NEEDS RIDE

Dear Trouble Shooter

I am in need of a ride to and from McNally High School here in Costa Mesa. If there is anyone who would be able to do this for me, I would be glad to pay for my share of the gas.

I will be going the morning session (8 a.m. to 11:15 a.m.) so please ask them to call 645-1570 and ask for Carole.

C.R.

Costa Mesa
Happy to oblige, little lady. Hope you find the ride that you need.

Got a Problem? Write The Trouble Shooter, P.O. Box 11696, Santa Ana, Calif., 92711. PLEASE DO NOT TELEPHONE YOUR PROBLEM TO US. Due to the volume of mail, not all letters can be answered or acknowledged. Those published will be signed with initials only, but you must include your name, address and telephone number.

Court Orders Trial Delayed For Physician

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered a postponement Friday of the trial of former Green Beret physician Jeffrey MacDonald.

MacDonald, now a doctor in Long Beach, Calif., was scheduled to go on trial in Raleigh Monday on charges that he murdered his wife and two children at Ft. Bragg, N.C., in 1970.

His attorney, Bernard Segal, had appealed a federal district court ruling on several points, including the contention that MacDonald would be subjected to double jeopardy if tried now. The A. M. Investigated MacDonald, but never prosecuted him.

In its ruling Friday, the appellate court said it was "of the view that the contentions made are not frivolous and that the rights asserted are too important to be denied review."

"For these reasons, we allow the appeals and direct the district court to stay further proceedings in the trial of the case until the appeals are determined," the court said.

The ruling was issued in Richmond, Va.

License Laws Over Massage Parlors OK'd

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger ruled Friday that local governments may enact massage parlor licensing laws.

The ruling was requested by Sen. David Roberti, a Los Angeles Democrat, who said he would have considered proposing licensing legislation — such as liquor licenses — if Younger had ruled the cities would be conflicting with state law.

"The ruling was at the request of a number of my constituents," said Roberti. "I probably represent the district with the most massage parlors of all."

Part of Roberti's district is Hollywood.

Roberti said he doesn't oppose massage parlors but "I think it is unfortunate that they congregate in areas of poor, older residents, probably because of cheaper rents. Why should the poor and elderly bear the brunt of social change?"

"It's the elderly and poor, not the people of San Marino or Beverly Hills."

"There should be some kind of dispersion or limitation of this, like liquor licenses," he said.

However, he added that he was not "too excited about getting the state in the middle of a zoning ordinance. It should be the cities; they know best. The state would be too far afield."

"I'm encouraged that local government can be engaged in this, because that's where it belongs," Roberti said.

SA Woman Saves Baby From Pool

SANTA ANA—Firemen credited a woman with saving the life of a 16-month-old baby who had fallen into a swimming pool.

Talle Cundall, 25, of 3314 S. Woodland, rescued the baby from the pool late Thursday and immediately began administering first aid and resuscitation, firemen said.

The baby, Casey James Durante, was reported in good condition Friday at Children's Hospital of Orange County.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durante of Santa Ana, were visiting the Cundalls when the incident occurred.

VFW Children To Give Play

TUSTIN—Children from the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home in Eaton Rapids, Mich., will present a play and perform special skits at 8 p.m. today in the Tustin Youth Center, 600 W. Sixth St.

The public is invited at no charge.

Tustin VFW Post No. 9203 is sponsoring the children who will also perform at the VFW National Convention in Los Angeles Sunday through Friday.

The VFW National Home cares for children of deceased or totally disabled members of the VFW. They write their own plays and skits.

'All In The Family' Absentee Barred From Any Other Work

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Absentee actress Sally Struthers, who hasn't reported for work on "All in the Family" this season, has been barred from working for anyone other than the producers of the popular television series.

A spokesman for Miss Struthers, who portrays Archie Bunker's daughter Gloria, said today the actress was still considering what to do in the wake of this week's ruling by a court-appointed arbitration panel.

The three-member panel held that Miss Struthers is still under contract to Tandem Productions and that Tandem controls her employment on television and radio while the contract is in effect. That pact currently runs through 1978, and Tandem has an option to extend it through 1979.

In addition, the panel ruled that Miss Struthers cannot work in any other field of show business — such as films or nightclubs — while "All in the Family" is in production. Tandem attorney Richard Fisher said the production period lasts seven months. "She doesn't have to come back to work," Fisher said. "The only real pressure is economic. She can, if she wants, just sit there for seven months." The first three episodes of the new season already have been filmed and the fourth was scheduled to be shot today. Miss Struthers' character has been written out of those four scripts.

Youth In Bed Killed By Car

PICO RIVERA (AP)—Edward Alarcon, 17, found no safety in his bed.

While he slept, a speeding car careened through his bedroom wall and pinned him beneath the vehicle, authorities said.

Alarcon died at Pico Rivera Community Hospital three hours later today of multiple injuries, including a broken neck, authorities said.

Los Angeles County Deputy Merle Cook said the car veered off the road when it failed to negotiate a curve near the house.

Grandfather Takes Plunges As Professional High Diver

CHICAGO (AP)—The 48-year-old grandfather, wearing shiny red swimming trunks, climbed 35 feet up a ladder, dived into a flaming tank of water. The plunge was worth $3,300.

This time, Bill McGuire's dive celebrated the opening of a new motel. He said he traveled 15,000 miles a year to dive an average of a dozen times a week.

McGuire said the dive Thursday was one of his highest hotel dolphin tank.

a tank. The target was 15 feet in diameter, 7 1/2 feet deep, and blazing from a film of ignited gasoline atop the water.

The muscular Irishman said he has been diving ever since he was eight years old.

"Two lifeguards in my hometown of Waterloo, Iowa, had a 50-foot ladder and I was fascinated watching them dive from it," recalled McGuire. "That got me started. My highest dive from a tower was 145 feet into a dolphin tank."

McGuire says he has had several accidents.

"I've had 12 ribs broken, but never more than two at a time, and I crushed my heel," he said. "The heel was pushed up into my ankle and the doctor said I never would dive again."

"But at age 24 I came back again. I climbed way up there and said to myself, 'What the hell,' and made a fine, painless dive. From then on I no longer was nervous."

ITALIAN REDS MOVE FAST AT LOCAL LEVEL TO CONSOLIDATE GAINS

ROME (AP) — With pledges of free funerals, more apartments and less government boondoggling, Italy's Communists are consolidating their power at an impressive rate on the local level. The big question now for this NATO country is whether they will be able to parlay their successes into a national victory.

Parliamentary elections are not scheduled for another two years. But many observers believe the quickly shifting political sands may undermine the coalition government of Christian Democratic Premier Aldo Moro and force an early vote that could turn into a referendum for or against communism.

A national victory for the Communists is no way a certainty, but should it come about it would further weaken NATO's southern flank, already buffeted by events in Greece, Turkey and left-leaning Portugal.

The Communists received 35 per cent of the vote in the June 15 regional elections, or only two points less than the Christian Democrats who have run Italy since the end of World War II. And the election results have created what seems like a rush to get on the Marxist bandwagon.

In Milan, city councilmen tore up their Christian Democratic membership cards and voted to give a Communist-Socialist coalition control of the city's financial capital for the first time ever; in Turin, Italy's Detroit, city hall receptionists who owed their jobs to Christian Democratic patronage openly rejoiced when the city got a Communist mayor.

"I'm worried about those who have not voted Communist and now may want to join the party on the rise," Flaminio Piccoli, Christian Democratic leader in the Chamber of Deputies, said of the bandwagon mentality.

The scorecard now shows that about a quarter of Italy's 53 million citizens live under Marxist regional governments, either controlled outright by the Communists or in partnership with the Socialist party.

Before the June elections, three such regional governments — the equivalent of state legislatures — were in Marxist hands, but they now number six — Piedmont, Lombardy, Liguria, Tuscany, Umbria and Emilia. In addition, five other regional governments were formed with Communist support.

What has startled most observers is the pace of the progress. Until a few months ago, Bologna was the only major city with a Communist mayor. Now all the big cities north of Rome have fallen under the control of Marxist coalitions.

Historians say that since the kings of Savoy moved out of Turin to unify Italy in 1860, the winds from the industrial north have determined what direction the whole of Italy would go.

Currently the wind up north is blowing to the left at an alarming speed for politicians concerned over the future of NATO. It is still too early to tell exactly what's in store for Italians living under newly formed Marxist local govern-

Old Job Still Sought By Fired NB Clerk

NEWPORT BEACH—Former city license supervisor Stan Hirschberg has been offered preference in regaining some position with the city, but he says he'll go to court to get his grounds for the allegations and old job back.

Hirschberg was transferred from his supervisory post to a position as storekeeper in the public works department in October, 1973. Last November he was fired from the second job.

Responding to a city civil service board recommendation that Hirschberg be rehired, City Manager Robert Wynn this week notified the 45-year-old former employee that he would be placed on a "preferential employment list" for any post commensurate with his "experience, training and qualifications."

However, Wynn told Hirschberg, "no such position is currently available."

Hirschberg said Friday that Wynn's action was not acceptable and that he would instruct his attorney to seek a judicial order that he be reinstated as license supervisor.

Hirschberg said he might accept another supervisory post with the city, but claimed that in a private meeting with Wynn last week he was offered only "laborer" positions, including his old job as storekeeper.

Wynn denied that the storekeeper position was offered, and said, "We will in all good faith try to find something that meets his fancy."

Hirschberg was fired from the storekeeper post on charges of insubordination and misconduct. The civil service board last June found insufficient grounds for the allegations and said Hirschberg's firing was improper.

The civil service panel had ruled last December that Hirschberg should not have been transferred from his original post as license supervisor, but Wynn overruled the group's decision on the grounds Hirschberg had failed to appeal the transfer in time.

Now Hirschberg plans a court fight for "the position I should have had all along." He contends he was transferred from the supervisory post because he offended a group of Lido merchants by trying to enforce city restrictions on sidewalk sales.

Hirschberg was allowed to keep his $1,222 a month salary when he was shifted to storekeeper. He claims he did not appeal the transfer immediately because his supervisors indicated he would be fired outright if he did.

Wynn said Friday it is "conceivable" that a new position offered Hirschberg would pay less than he was receiving prior to his firing.

The city manager said he did not know when an opening for Hirschberg would occur. "Positions come up daily but for one that meets his criteria and mine, it's hard to put a time frame on it," said Wynn.

MV Girl Takes Second In Miss Teen Pageant

NEWPORT BEACH—Karen Ann Lurie, 17, of Whittier was named the 1975 Miss California Teenager with second place going to Debbie C. Spriet, 16, of Mission Viejo in pageant activities Thursday at the Balboa Bay Club.

Other finalists were Jennifer Aline Taylor, 16, Santa Rosa, third place; Cathy Lynn Vasquez, 16, Los Alamitos, fourth, and Deborah Anne Langley, 16, Yorba Linda, fifth.

DeDee Wiggins, 16, of Fullerton was named Miss Congeniality, and Kapiolani Lyman, 17, of Corona del Mar and Pamela Richards, 17, of Fullerton tied for the Miss Photogenic title.

The 1975 winner will travel to the Hotel Fontainebleau in Miami Beach to compete in the national finals from Aug. 24-28.

Contestants from throughout California were judged in party dresses on the basis of beauty of face, figure, charm, poise, personality, leadership, scholastic achievement and community service, said Michael Kelly, pageant spokesman.

OC Agency Postpones Action On Illegal Alien Clampdown

ORANGE—Action on a controversial request for tighter federal and local control of illegal aliens was postponed for at least three months Thursday by the county's league of cities division.

Amid growing concern from some league representatives that the agency should never have tackled the issue, delegates voted to conduct a county-wide study of the impact of illegal aliens and to hear the committee's findings in November.

Nearly 60 persons, most of them Mexican-Americans and most connected with various government and private community service centers, turned out to witness debate on the controversial plan recommended to the league by Placentia.

The non-league members were refused the opportunity to speak on the matter, however, and league discussion didn't touch on the Placentia resolution.

Instead, La Habra Mayor Beth Graham said her 12-member committee, formed last month to rewrite Placentia's proposal, "agreed to a man that we just don't know enough about the problem—if, indeed, there is a problem."

She urged the league to form a countywide task force—a move that was approved in a voice vote with only four dissenting votes.

Placentia Councilman Jack Gomez argued that league members appeared to be afraid of pressure from community groups opposed to the city's (Placentia) stand, and said that instead of the 90-day study, "You should just vote it down so we can go home."

Several league members, each city in the county belongs and has one vote, said they believed the federal government should deal with the illegal alien issue on its own, since control of immigration is strictly a federal matter.

Others argued that the league's input would be valuable in advising federal officials of the extent of impact illegal aliens have in Orange County.

The Placentia proposal, based on a police report compiled in January, says illegal aliens have an adverse economic impact, cause numerous police problems and are exploited by employers, smugglers and persons who provide them with lodging.

To combat the influx of illegal aliens—most of them Mexican—in Orange County—the city's resolution urged:

—Massive expenditure of tax funds to strengthen the federal border patrol and immigration service;

—Penalties for employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens;

—A requirement that persons "prove beyond doubt" their citizenship or legal residency status before being granted drivers' licenses and social security cards and being allowed to utilize government programs such as health care and welfare;

—Allowing local police to enforce immigration laws if the federal government cannot budget sufficient monies for the immigration service.

The last two recommendations drew strong criticism from a number of community groups. Opponents said the policy would be tantamount to subjecting every person of Mexican, Central American or Latin American descent to police search and would violate his or her civil rights.

'Clown' Act Becomes MV Bank Robbery

MISSION VIEJO—Two men, disguised as clowns and brandishing guns held up the Bank of America at Muirlands Boulevard and La Paz Road Friday.

The men then fled out the north door and escaped in a 1963 green Chevrolet reported stolen in Tustin 40 minutes before the incident, Blansett said.

A woman about to enter the bank saw the robbers flee and men pull up to the north entrance of the bank at 10:40 a.m., the Mission Viejo High School parking lot where they ditched pieces of clown clothing and their flight in a late model, two-door car, Blansett continued.

Once inside, Blansett said, employees and eight customers followed them a quarter mile to the bank saw the robbers flee and men pull up to the north entrance of the bank at 10:40 a.m., the Mission Viejo High School parking lot where they ditched pieces of clown clothing and their flight in a late model, two-door car, Blansett continued.

Because the men were in disguise, there is little information on their descriptions. However, and forced an employee to open the vault, men, a white and either a black As the robber inside the vault or Mexican, were in their mid-20s "judging from their voices," Blansett said.

KEEPS PLUGGING AT JOB

He Claims He's 113, He Proves Useful

ASPERMONT, Tex. (AP)—slaves from New Orleans and Cane in hand, Glover Miller shuffles through the First National Bank where he has been employed for as long as anyone can remember.

Miller says he is 113 years old, and few in this West Texas community of 1,200 will quarrel with that.

The oldtimer picks up trash at the bank and relishes memories obscured somewhat by time.

Miller says he was born into slavery near Montgomery, Ala., during the Civil War.

"When the Yankees came around, I didn't know anything," he said. "Six white men came on horses and told my Mama, 'You are as free as we are.'"

"When the old master found out, he turned over in his bed and never said another word. He had just bought a bunch of

Here are Miller's observations on life:

—"I heard about them on the moon. But I'll tell you one thing, they never fooled around with the sun. And I bet they never will."

—"I bought a car from a white woman who didn't like the color. That must have been a hundred years ago." It was time.

—"Let's see," he says, trying to recall how many children he has. "You'll just have to ask my children about that. I've got so many."

His daughters say the old man had 21 children and two wives.

Miller says he doesn't care much for television but enjoys the jesting of a "preacher" funeral. He tells me I am living on somebody else's time.

LA Officials Pines, Davis Bury Hatchet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police Chief Ed Davis and City Attorney Burt Pines have announced an end to their public dispute over enforcement of pornography laws.

The men made brief statements to the press after meeting for more than an hour with Mayor Tom Bradley this week, and they pledged to hold any discussion of differences in private and to work constructively with each other.

Over the last week, the officials engaged in sometimes bitter exchanges, with Davis claiming Pines was lax in prosecuting pornography cases, and had accepted campaign contributions from pornographers, bookmakers, prostitutes and people who operate massage parlors.

Pines counterattacked by branding the statements from Davis as reckless, unfounded, and reminiscent of the McCarthy era.

"We think that this kind of unfortunate exchange has not been of service to law enforcement or the image of the city, and we thought it was important that we begin this afternoon with some understanding, some setting of guidelines for future discussion between the top officials of the city," Bradley said.

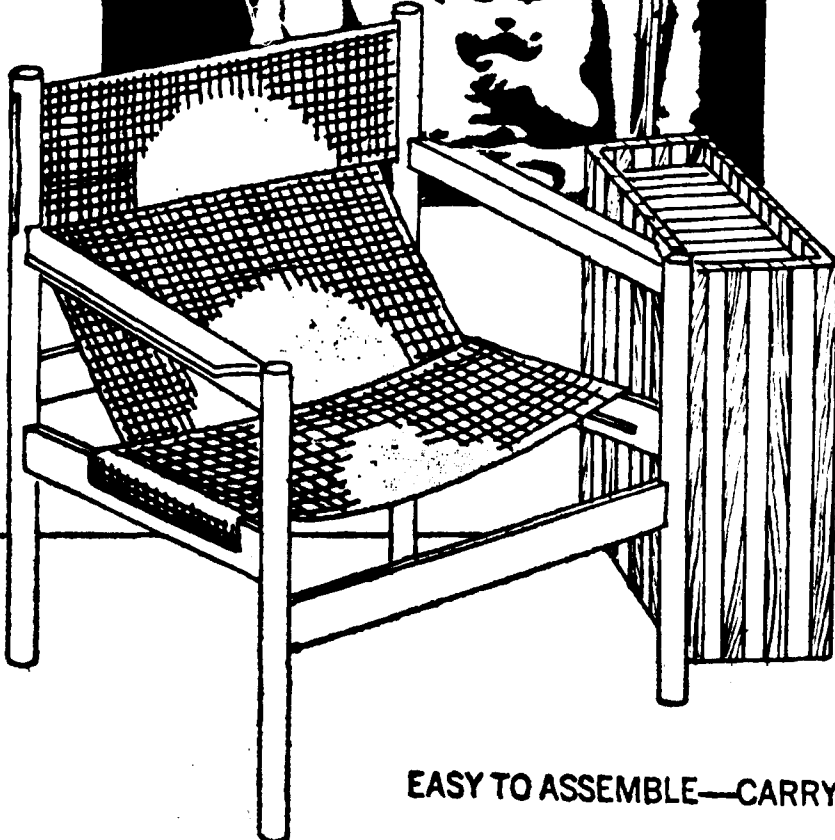

Pines, who is attorney for city departments and prosecutes misdemeanor charges by police, said: "It's been obvious to everyone that no one in the city or law enforcement is served by any kind of public personal disputes between the chief of police and myself. . . . Ed, I'm glad that we're putting this behind us. Let's get on with the work we have at hand."

"God, thank you, Burt," Davis replied, adding, "I want to make it clear that I had no intention at any time in anything I said to impugn the personal integrity of Mr. Pines."

'Funny Money' Stamps

Food stamps emphasize the "apparent inevitability" of the way government programs grow from a small beginning, intended to solve a "temporary" problem, to monumental proportions with no discernible end, according to a study of social welfare programs conducted by The Institute for Socioeconomic Studies, a foundation headquartered in White Plains, N.Y.

"Costing $33 million in 1965, the (food stamp) program soared to $6 billion in fiscal 1975," the Institute reports, "and projections for 1976 run up to $10 billion."

What was intended to relieve patches of severe malnutrition in such places as Appalachia and the Mississippi Delta, the foundation study revealed, is now being "merchandized" by the Food Stamps "out-reach" program as aid for families with incomes of up to $16,000 a year. As with all such schemes designed to plunder some for the benefit of others, the "success" of the food stamp rip-off has spawned any number of additional stamp schemes with the same objective, the foundation went on to add. Proposals are pending for clothing stamps, energy stamps, transportation stamps, fuel stamps, and gasoline stamps. "The possibilities are endless. The rub is that each new (inflationary) script program would generate vast amounts of paperwork, expensive bureaucracy and complicated procedures." The question before the nation, the foundation asked, hastening to answer in the negative, "is whether there is any way out of more welfare programs?"

Instead, pointed out foundation president Leonard M. Greene, many authorities advocate "cashing-out" existing programs and replacing them with an "income maintenance" program which would provide a "subsistence income."

In response to which, may we suggest that such "authorities" have neglected their homework on the history of such "replacements." Almost invariably, instead of getting rid of the old schemes, the new scheme has simply been added on to all the rest. The solution to the welfare mess that is destroying this country, both morally and economically, is to get government out of "welfare" entirely, not changing the names of the schemes in a bureaucratic game of musical chairs.

Missing The Lesson

The growing debate over whether the pending grain "sales" to Soviet Russia will benefit or harm our own economy tends to obscure a fact of greater import. That fact is simply this:

Socialist Soviet Russia, for all its vaunted giant collectivized farms and forced labor, cannot feed its own people and must rely, instead, on the capitalistic farms of the western world—primarily the United States and Canada. And this despite the fact that the Russian Ukraine, even under the despotic czars and without the modern farm machinery now available to the Soviets, was once known to the world over as the "breadbasket" of that part of the world.

If the failure of socialism was ever demonstrated beyond any element of doubt, then surely the failure of the Soviet system to feed the Russian people provides the classic example.

But why? That is the question. The answer can be given in three words: Lack of incentive! Slaves just cannot be expected to produce as do free people. The Wall Street Journal, in its Aug. 7 editorial put it like this:

"The official Soviet explanation for the (repeated) grain crop shortfall is that old standby, weather. That no doubt played a part, but it's worth remembering that weather is not unknown outside the borders of the U.S.S.R. The real problem is not so much weather but whether — whether Moscow will continue to invite crop shortages by relying on collectivized agriculture, or whether it will ultimately unshackle its farmers." As the Journal went on to point out, even Lenin, himself, tacitly admitted the productive value of incentive when he permitted the Russian people some freedom of action under his "New Economic Policy" (NEP) by... granting concessions to peasant farmers in order to stimulate agricultural output. But as soon as pre-war levels of production were achieved, and the threat of famine receded, restrictions were reimposed on sowing, growing and production. That's how it remains (in Soviet Russia) today." With the result, the Journal concluded, that:

Soviet agriculture today... takes an estimated 24 percent of total investment compared with barely 4 percent in the U.S. and that Russia has eight times the farm workers as does the U.S. yet produces less than half the grain."

You'd think that the powers-that-be in Washington, egged on by ivory tower dwellers elsewhere, would take this lesson to heart as they push for the socialization of medicine, the socialization of energy, the socialization of transportation and anything else they can get their sticky fingers on.

If the economy of this country is finally wrecked, to whom are we going to apply for "foreign aid"?

Bite Bullet?

Bite the bullet? What does it mean? During the Civil war when the South was short of narcotics, and other pain killers, and shorter yet on whiskey, which was used as a poor substitute, for relieving shock from operations, about the only thing left for a patient to get his teeth on, hold tight, against the shock of the operation, was the lead bullet. He was told to bite it as hard as he could.

Today, with the travesty of unbearable taxation, at all levels of government, we are told to "bite the bullet," supposedly to help eliminate the shock of this enormous tax burden.

People will die of shock, and if this shock can be alleviated by the use of anesthetics, the patient has a better chance of survival. However, the constant shock of our oppressive taxation, today, is so great, that no amount of anesthetics, whiskey or lead bullets can alleviate it, and the patients (taxpayers) will eventually expire.

Bite the bullet? What the politicians don't realize is that the bullet has already been bitten in two.

Public Comment

I am appalled and saddened by recent remarks made by Betty Ford with regard to the smoking of marijuana by young people and their indulgence in pre-marital sex.

It is shocking beyond belief to hear her condone and encourage such mind and soul destroying activities. And for a mother to take such a defeatist attitude as, "If you can't beat 'em join 'em," about sections which are extremely dangerous, in my opinion, to the spiritual and emotional wellbeing of her children.

Dr. D. Harvey Powelson, M.D., former Chief of the Department of Psychiatry in the Student Health Center at the University of California, Berkeley, once as advocate of the legalization of pot, now has done a complete about face in his opinion of that noxious weed. After treating hundreds of young people whose lives have been scarred by the drug and after having used it himself, he now states, "Marijuana is the most dangerous drug we have to contend with." (Readers Digest Dec. 1974)

I recently found a forgotten bag of potatoes. They had putrefied to the point of contamination by maggots and stench. If I had chosen to make my find sound less sickening and a bit "nicer" I could have said, "I found a container of fermenting tubers" but any child looking at the mess would call it a rotten bag of potatoes!

Betty Ford, who claims to be a Christian, refers to the act of fornication, condemned by the scriptures, as a "meaningful relationship" attempting to "nicen" it up, but just the same it is fornication she is condoning!

Wrong Praise

Praise was heaped upon Senators Jackson and Stevenson in a recent letter to this column, primarily for their stand against the oil companies. The author (Hugh E. Watson of Santa Ana) opined that only government intervention keeps the oil companies from "ripping us off." He further states that it is the job of every public servant to work for equality for all the people in this country. The letter concluded with a charge for all of us to be aware of our Constitution and our heritage and not allow our government to force us into world government.

It is precisely that Jacksons and Stevensons and others of liberal persuasion who will take us in to world government: This will be done by preaching equalitarianism, and eventually legislating this yoke around all our necks. In free societies, people are never equal, and equal people can only exist in totalitarian societies.

Jackson authored environmental legislation years ago which has had a significant role in creating our energy shortage. Most new oil production and nuclear power installations have been held up, thanks to Jackson. Is he really on our side? His Land Use Planning bill would strip every property owner in this country of his right to control his own property as he wishes. This is totalitarianism.

Stevenson would build a government-owned oil refinery to undercut privately-owned producers. This scheme would supposedly lower our gasoline costs, or at least until all privately owned refineries shut down. Show me a government project that costs less than a privately operated one? Amtrak, nationalized private railroad, runs at a loss and we taxpayers make up the difference through taxes. The post office is costing us more for generally poorer service. Stevenson isn't helping "the people", but he is attacking our concept of private property and free-enterprise competition, all for equalitarianism.

Reader Watson is certainly aware of the threat we face from government. But to praise two leading liberals for what will ultimately work hardships at best, loss of freedom at worst, on the American public, is certainly counter-productive. A simple method to judge a politician is to observe his proposals. When these proposals grant more power to government, they are dangerous and a threat to the very concepts of Americanism the politician purports to support. Don't let such hypoetry and demagoguery prevail.

Smith's Return

Since I am one of the Stanford alumni, I am taking the liberty of expressing my opinion about Smith's ordeal in Africa.

In a world filled with rebels who use devious means to gain ransoms, it appears very unwise for the university such as the recent one. I also object to the tumultuous celebration upon his return.

I don't recall ransom ever being paid for the return of a POW, who may have spent years in much worse circumstances. Therefore, I believe there should be much less fanfare. In other words, silence would be the best noise.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Saturday, August 16, the 228th day of 1975. There are 137 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1896, gold was discovered on Bonanza Creek in Alaska, setting off the Klondike gold rush.

On this date: In 1777, in the American Revolution, the Battle of Bennington in Vermont ended in an American victory over a Hessian force under the British.

In 1861, President Abraham Lincoln prohibited the states of the Union from trading with the seceding states of the Confederacy.

In 1914, the British Expeditionary Force landed in France in World War I.

In 1948, the baseball idol, Babe Ruth, died in New York at the age of 53.

In 1966, Adlai Stevenson became a presidential contender for the second time as he was nominated by the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

In 1860, Britain granted independence to the crown colony of Cyprus.

Ten years ago: The Soviets published new pictures of the far side of the moon taken by a spacecraft in flight, showing one-fifth of the lunar surface not previously photographed.

Five years ago: A small flotilla of ships put to sea from Sunny Point, N. C. to sink a cargo of obsolete nerve gas in an old Liberty Ship.

One year ago: The Turkish invaders of Cyprus completed the division of the island into two areas and declared a cease-fire.

Today's Birthdays: President George Meany of the AFL-CIO is 81. Singer Eydie Gorme is 43.

Thought for today: The graveyards are full of people the world could not do without — Elbert Hubbard, American writer, 1856-1915.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, early in American Revolution, the New Jersey Provisional Congress resolved to organize a military force, including 63 companies of Minute Men.

'Fortress Anaheim': Taxing Everybody

By DONALD M. McLEAN
ANAHEIM—I've said it before and I'll say it again—I love John Seymour, the mayor pro tem of Anaheim. Given his political good fortune, I expect to bask in the sun light of his leadership until John Schmitz becomes president of the U.S. Unlike my crushes on other illustrious sons of the city—Tom Kuchel, Jack Dutton, Ralph Clark—this affair is bound to last.

Now, before you think I've gone totally bananas over the new Anaheim Aristotle, let me explain. A while back Seymour, along with councilpersons Bill Thom and Miriam Kaywood, detected a need for a new city hall. The problem was there was no extra $11 million around to finance it. A measure was put on the ballot asking the voters if they wanted a new city hall. They did. Another measure was advanced asking if they wanted to pay for it through higher taxes. They didn't. Some problem: It looked as if Seymour was doomed to spend his political career in the same crummy office on Lincoln Boulevard.

Then inspiration strikes. Why not, Seymour reasons, levy a 5 per cent admissions tax on Disneyland, the California Angels, and the convention center? Surveys show that 86 per cent of the 13 million tourists visiting Disneyland each year are non-residents of the city. The same percentages roughly hold true with the Angels and convention center visitors. Consequently, Seymour notes, the admissions tax is the "least onerous" for Anaheim citizens. And lest anyone question the justice of the tax, Seymour is quick to note that visitors use Anaheim streets, police and fire protection, and sewage facilities.

The opposition to the tax is highly suspect. Red Patterson of the Angels whines it will be more destructive to their attendance than their relief squad. Disneyland officials petulantly plead they already pay the city a million a year in taxes. The convention center directors bemoan the loss of their competitive edge. And like a trio of hypocritical ingrates, they all trill that a drop in attendance might cost the city more than the $4 million a year it hopes to raise from the tax.

Yet what would Anaheim be without a new city hall? It is a fact the present one is structurally sound and ade-

In A Nuclear Age - The Responsibility Of Power

By VICTOR RIESEL

America's Secretary of Defense is the diametric opposite of the image of the trigger-happy militarist painted by our nation's enemies, critics and virtually all literatures. Secretary Schlesinger is a profound and erudite scholar. I asked him — what of detente? Here is his answer written exclusively for this column.

By James R. Schlesinger
Secretary Of Defense

WASHINGTON — Throughout our history we Americans have viewed military power ambivalently, believing that stability, not force, should characterize the relations between nations. Indeed, it remains our hope that nations can achieve their goals through cooperation rather than conflict. But we must not substitute illusion for hope. This world is neither one from which we can retreat, nor an abode we find particularly hospitable. Lacking the laws and institutions that shape the life of an individual nation, the external world has created far too many opportunities for the unrestrained use and abuse of power. Until the nations of the world agree upon and accept common purposes and institutions, it will be necessary for this nation to retain the instruments of military power for the preservation of the values it holds dear.

To become more precise about the existing distribution of world power, two nations, the United States and the Soviet Union, are preeminent. In a military sense, the world retains most of the trappings of bipolarity. Given that reality, the United States remains the indispensable counterweight to the unfettered exercise by the Soviet Union of its very considerable strength.

Americans have not been altogether happy with this development in terms of power and responsibility. They have been equivocal about American preeminence — and the responsibilities such a position entails. Nevertheless, whether we are resigned to or cheerfully embrace these responsibilities, there is today no adequate substitute for the United States as the mainstay and maintainer of the community of free states.

Power Equation

In our relations with the other superpower we pursue both stability and a relaxation of tension. But given ideological differences and the contrast between our own social order and that of the Soviets, the reduction of tension cannot be quickly transformed into the elimination of tension.

The equation of power retains its ultimate significance. And it will do so until such time as the Soviet Union accepts the permanence and legitimacy of Western social order. When the Soviet Union ceases to regard peaceful coexistence — Lenin's phrase invariably employed in place of "detente" — as something more than an altered form of the ideological struggle and a different phase of the class war, we may ultimately reach a common acceptance of the meaning of international stability. Until such time, however, power will remain the ultimate arbiter of international developments and the power balance will be essential to the preservation of stability. Detente will by necessity remain undergirded by an equilibrium of force.

Such are the realities which for the indefinite future will establish the framework for America's role. To a greater or lesser extent we can fall in our obligations, but it is not within our power to alter the hard cold facts.

Yet, we must also recognize that the psychological setting has altered since the United States inherited the responsibilities in the wake of World War II. Americans are no longer as enthusiastic about their international role as they were at the time of the Marshall Plan, or the founding of NATO, or the response to Sputnik, or the Kennedy inaugural address. Other states outside the Communist orbit no longer treat American leadership with acclaim. Familiarity has led them to become, at least, more restless, bored or unappreciative. So as we proceed on our course, we do so with less zest, with less of a crusading impulse — while recognizing that the task has become, if anything, more difficult.

For some time the country has to all appearances been in flux. The changes in attitude reflect a widespread failure of moral stamina in Western societies as much as the specific disputes within this country over the Vietnam war. But I use the word "appearances" advisedly in order to stress the surface aspect of such developments. Beneath the surface there remains in the United States a deep-seated solidity. Despite the corrosive effects of the events of the last decade, our American society remains a highly resilient one — perhaps preeminently so among the nations of the world.

But this deeper solidity can readily remain undiscerned. If there is one thing about the American society, it is a tendency to overdramatize. Headlines puffing the crisis of the week and the compression of reality in TV summaries serve to titillate the reader or the viewer. There is typically a quest for novelty.

External Forces

There is, however, only limited opportunity for novelty in responsible policy towards the international order (or the domestic social framework). The role of the United States is to a large degree shaped by external forces to which we may react — or fail to react. The test for our international role may well have diminished, but that will not permit us to abandon our burdens. What Mr. Dooley said with respect to divorce on Arcey Road many years ago has a certain relevancy today to America's continuing foreign involvement:

"Up here whin a married couple get to this p't where tis impossible fir thim to go on livin' together they go on livin' together."

I have every confidence that the years ahead will bring a restoration of moral stamina and an abiding trust in the values of Western civilization. The underlying strength and resiliency of this society is sufficient to the task. We shall not fail, for if we should fail the inevitable drift would make the words of William Butler Yeats depressingly relevant to our condition:

"Things fall apart; the centre cannot hold;

"More anarchy is loosed upon the world. . .

"The best lack all conviction, while the worst

"Are full of passionate intensity."

We ought not allow this grim vision to materialize.

Laguna, Knott's, Disneyland Lead Bicentennial Entertainment

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of Orange County Bicentennial columns, written for The Register by Cec Rospaw, member of the Orange County Historical Society and former publisher-editor of The Placentia Courier.

By CEC ROSPAW
The Americana of Knott's Berry Farm, the Disneyland parade, the recent circus production at the Anaheim Convention Center and the 40th Pageant of the Masters have to stamp Orange County as the nation's bicentennial-entertainment capital.

The Laguna pageant runs through Aug. 24 and is a sell-out. However, the box office handles turned-in tickets and no-shows right up to the 8:30 p.m. curtain each show night and many area residents have been able to see the production by spending a few minutes in line.

Even if the ticket quest doesn't work out, a trip to Laguna Beach this time of year is hardly wasted. The Festival of Arts on the show grounds is best viewed in the evening cool when the audience is inside the Bowl.

On up the street, within walking distance, the Sawdust Festival, started a few years back by a group of younger artists and artisans, has gotten larger and more professional each year, and there are other exhibitions closer to the beach.

Back in 1904, the original Festival was much more informal than today, but in the same basic format. The basic purpose was to call attention to Laguna art and artists. That aim has been met.

Nearly $90,000 from admission receipts will go toward a student scholarship program, as more than 300,000 paid admissions are recorded each year.

However, as is usual in these things, there will always be a problem. Parking meters now grace Laguna Canyon Road and the unwary are warned to bring change or be prepared for a ticket to subtract from the enjoyment.

Meanwhile, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, which, incidentally, is playing this weekend in Long Beach, was a masterful production of blending both a happy event—befitting a national birthday—and a caped look at entertainment history.

A flag-raising should show respect, something the circus managed to do without losing a beat. But honoring the flag can be done with music, with singing, with bugle calls, with familiar and unfamiliar music from earlier times.

The circus may have pointed the way—with its three-ring extravaganza approach to the bicentennial—to one way of involving more people and more participants in local celebrations.

After all, when you invite the band to play, don't most of the parents tag along?

Our column about the need for more books of local history is still getting response. We didn't say there were none. We only said there were not enough and that getting them written and published was a good bicentennial project. That we stand by.

Ms. Carol Jordan reminded us that the Tustin committee has two publications and both, she thought, were on file at UCI. They are the earlier Tustin challenge and will take the walk and report on that later. A good idea for a project.

And we will be glad to report on other local books and review, report or record them. But send the information along.

The Bennington '76 Flag, first unfurled 196 years ago, can be seen today flying in several places throughout Orange County as businesses and residents gear up for the bicentennial.

On Aug. 16, 1777, the Green Mountain Boys led by Col. John Stark carried the now famous Bennington Flag in their victory over the British at the Battle of Bennington. This flag was the first version of the stars and stripes to be flown by American troops over a defeated enemy.

The Santa Ana Bicentennial Committee is encouraging people to obtain and fly Bennington flags for the bicentennial celebration. The committee has replicas of the Bennington available in several sizes and hopes to see many flying from businesses and homes during the year.

While the Green Mountain Boys made their mark in history 196 years ago today, the La Palma Bicentennial Committee is hoping to make a mark in the entertainment field tonight.

The committee is producing The Taming of the Shrew at 8 p.m. at the Orange Playhouse. Part of tonight's proceeds will go to the committee.

Aaron Fletcher, who won the 1972 Orange County Actor of the Year award, is directing the Stage II production. Tickets for the highly acclaimed legitimate theater work are priced at $3.50.

The Santa Ana Bicentennial Committee will make its annual report at Monday's 7:30 p.m. city council meeting. Interested persons are invited to attend.

The trial of Richard James Weissman, 39, of 8461 Lamond St., Huntington Beach, Donald W. Blansett, 32, of 5881 Gloria St., Apt. 1, Garden Grove, and Luke Austin, a Marine stationed at Yuma, Ariz., had been scheduled to begin in Superior Court here this week.

The trial was arrested by San Bernardino County sheriff's deputies last April and charged in connection with the deaths of John Henry Gressmann, 39, of Orange, and Norman Russell Olsey, 28, of Westminster.

The suspects and the victims were all former employees of the Playgirl Club in Garden Grove. Deputies said Olsey, Gressmann, Austin and Weissman were security guards at the club when Blansett was the manager.

Olsey's remains were found in a shallow grave at El Mirage Dry Lake in October 1974, 11 months after he disappeared. Gressmann disappeared 2½ years ago. His body was found last April in the desert north of Yucca Valley.

Last April, an affidavit filed in municipal court here alleged that the two men were killed because the suspects feared they would expose an operation involving the illegal manufacture of silencers for handguns and illegal weapons trafficking.

According to the affidavit, Gressmann was a paid informer of the alcohol, tobacco and firearms branch of the U.S. Treasury Department.

Police said they had earlier received information that a van bearing the same license plate injured in the June 27 blast was en route to Phoenix from which ripped apart the van. California carrying 30 sticks of dynamite with which to blow up a motorcycle gang hideout.

Police were searching for the van when the explosion occurred. Investigators said it appeared that an explosive device in the van may have been detonated accidentally.

The arrest warrant was issued this week for William G. Galemore, 25, of Long Beach, Calif. Galemore was critically injured in the June 27 blast.

Charles Keenan, 34, of Garden Grove, Calif., died in the explosion. Police were searching for the van when the explosion occurred.

rant for Galemore. He had been subpoenaed for the inquest before he left Phoenix to appear at an inquest into the death of a companion killed in an explosion in their parked van.

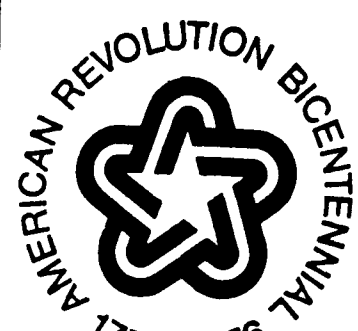

The arrest warrant was issued this week for William G. Galemore, 25, of Long Beach, Calif. Galemore was critically injured in the June 27 blast.

Charles Keenan, 34, of Garden Grove, Calif., died in the explosion. Police were searching for the van when the explosion occurred.

Investigators said it appeared that an explosive device in the van may have been detonated accidentally.

Because three jurors were ill and Galemore failed to appear, the inquest was postponed until Aug. 28.

Justice of the Peace Mary Jo Dixon issued the arrest warrant for Galemore. He had been subpoenaed for the inquest before he left Phoenix to appear at an inquest into the death of a companion killed in an explosion in their parked van.

what about your children's deeper needs?
Their everyday needs are important. But they yearn for spiritual things as well - for love, and certainty, and knowing God cares for them.
In the Bible lessons at our Sunday School, young people's questions about God are answered in ways they can understand and prove.
We welcome your children, any Sunday

Lake Hills Youth Begin 1800-Mile Mission Trip

LAGUNA HILLS—When 30 senior high youth board two vans Sunday, August 17 for an 1800-mile round trip through Arizona and New Mexico, they will sponsor Gary and Barb Greibe off on a singing, working and witnessing mission outreach to Navajo Indians.

Leading this first annual summer missions institute will be associate pastor Rev. Robert Wise, along with youth choir director Robert Perry of Laguna Beach and high school seniors Gary and Barb Greibe. They will be joined by Ed and Sandee VanWijck, a man of Mission Viejo.

Itinerary includes the Glass and Garden Drive-In Church in Scottsdale, Arizona, where the young people will sing and share their faith. They will also perform at Trinity Presbyterian Church in Chinle, Arizona and at Community Congregational Church in Flagstaff.

The group will camp out two days at the Grand Canyon and view cliff dwellings at Canyon De Chelly. The heart of their mission, however, lies in the six days they will spend at Brethren Navajo Mission in Counselors, New Mexico. Here they will encounter Indian culture and lifestyles through interaction with high school youth and children who come to the mission; take classes in Indian lore and missions; and join in work projects of painting and repair at the mission.

The youth have spent the last eight weeks in preparation through study sessions, training in leadership and witnessing, and resource speakers, including a visit by the mission director, Rev. Larry Wedertz of Counselors, New Mexico. In addition, the group has been in singing rehearsals since March, working in a contemporary Christian folk music vein and developing an individual style. They have appeared regularly as "The Xara Xrista" (meaning Christ joy) at Lake Hills Community Church Sunday evening services.

Christian Women Are The Truly Liberated

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Women who are Christians are the truly liberated, a luncheon group at the National Assn. of Evangelicals were told.

"Women were liberated 2,000 years ago by Jesus Christ," Mrs. Rosemary Edington told the NAE Women's Fellowship, meeting in conjunction with the 33rd Annual Convention of the National Association of Evangelicals.

Mrs. Edington, lecturer, Bible teacher, wife of an orthopedic surgeon and mother of two sons, addressed the women's luncheon on the subject, "Women in Evangelism."

"Christ has put the responsibility to evangelize squarely on each of us, without distinction of race, sex, status or profession," the black woman told her audience of largely white wives and mothers. "The Christian woman has every asset to proclaim Jesus Christ where she is—to the salesman at her door, to the clerk in the store or to other mothers in the PTA," she said; "the opportunities are multiple."

Describing occasions when she gave witness to her faith to a woman in a parking lot and the man who laid the rugs in her home, she challenged the women, "Do you have a message to tell wherever you go?"

In a business session, the Women's Fellowship elected a new national president, Mrs. Carl F. Isaac of the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Oklahoma City.

14 Lutherans In 94th Congress

Fourteen Lutherans are serving in the current 94th Congress. The Senate includes three Lutheran Democrats while the house has nine Lutheran Republicans. Five are from the Lutheran Church in America, five from the American Lutheran Church and four from the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

At its 11th annual meeting here the LCIC was informed by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod that its financial grant for 1975 will probably be $25,000 instead of the requested amount of $46,443, a shortfall of $21,443. The Council's operating budget for the current year totals $173,500, to which the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada will contribute $44,640 and the Lutheran Church in America-Canada Section $64,890.

Moderate Lutherans Meeting In Chicago

CHICAGO—More than 1500 "moderate" members of The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod opened their national meeting in suburban Chicago.

Discussion at the annual Assembly of Evangelical Lutherans in Mission (ELIM) is expected to center on the question of whether "moderates" can continue to serve effectively in mission within the Synod or should begin to seek a new alignment.

The Assembly will be responding to resolutions of the Synod's July convention in Anaheim which declared the activities of ELIM to be "divisive" and "schismatic," and which threatened "moderates" with removal from various forms of ministry and from the Synod.

Since its formation in 1973, ELIM has extended support to those whose ministries have been affected adversely by a sharp "conservative" direction taken by the synodical administration.

Among the activities labeled divisive by the Synod convention were ELIM's support for the students and faculty of Concordia Seminary in Exile (Seminex) and for the "Partners in Mission" agency.

The ELIM movement has been responsible for providing continuing ministries for professors dismissed by the Board of Control of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis. The dismissed professors, along with most of their students, formed Seminex following the ouster of Dr. John H. Tietjen from the seminary presidency in a series of events that have received nation-wide attention.

Several former Synod mission executives, who had resigned from their posts to protest the policies of their governing board, currently serve "Partners in Mission."

The agency is designed to assist overseas Lutheran churches and other mission endeavors without efforts to control them.

Meeting in conjunction with the Assembly on the preceding day will be the Board of Directors of the Lutheran Church in Mission (LCM), the National Black Lutheran Lay Caucus, and a group of white pastors of black congregations.

The LCM is a standby corporation formed to make certain arrangements that will be needed in the event of a split in the Synod. The group has expressed the hope, however, that LCM will not be necessary.

'Vacation With Jesus' Is Theme Of Bible School

When youngsters come to Vacation Bible School at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 1190 Morning-side Drive, Laguna Beach Aug. 18 to 22, they will be embarking on an imaginary "Vacation with Jesus in the Holy Land." Day by day they will venture forth to visit another place, and to reconstruct an important event which occurred in that place.

The itinerary includes such locales as Sinai, Bethlehem, Galilee, Jerusalem, and the Mediterranean world.

The first flight is set to leave Monday morning at 9:30. Return will be at noon. Flight reservations (registration) can be made at any time by calling the church office. However, space will be available for all who show up Monday morning.

During the course of the "escorted tour," maps, tableaux, and displays will be constructed.

Luncheon Slated For Possibility Thinkers

Television actor Clint Walker will kick off the 1975-76 Possibility Thinkers Luncheons for Business and Professional People as the keynote speaker on Sept. 3.

Walker, perhaps best known as Cheyenne Brodie because of his long-standing role in the very popular television western series "Cheyenne," will speak in the Garden Grove Community Church sanctuary, 12141 Lewis St., following a buffet luncheon at noon in the church's Fellowship Hall.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made through Rev. David Bailey's office, deadline Aug. 29.

Israel Academy Plans Events

IRVINE—Israel Academy will sponsor an outdoor Sabbath farewell or Havdalah Service at 7:45 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 23, in Eisenhower Park, Orange. Games for youngsters will precede the service.

On Aug. 30, Israel Academy members and friends will attend an ice cream social beginning at 9 p.m. in Old Irvine School on Sand Canyon Road. After the social activities, Rabbi Robert J. Bergman will conduct a Sabbath farewell Havdalah Service followed at midnight by the traditional S'leehot service (prayers of repentance) in preparation for High Holy Days Sept. 5 to 15.

Reform Church Retains Woman As A Minister

NEW YORK CITY—The Reformed Church in America's only woman minister will be allowed to retain her ordination. An overture from the Particular Synod of Michigan to have the ordination of Ms. Joyce Stedje set aside was rejected last week by the denomination's highest judicatory, its general Synod. Meeting at Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ill., the General Synod voted 158-97 to take "no action" on the overture.

This means that Ms. Stedje, a 49-year old mother of six who two years ago was ordained and installed as pastor of the Rochester Reformed Church, Accord, N.Y., will retain her unique position in a religious body that does not officially admit women to its ministry.

As in other communions, women's ordination has been a lively issue in the reformed Church in the past few years. A change in the Book of Church Order to open the way for women ministers must be approved by two-thirds of the Church's 44 classes, or local judicatories. This spring, for the third consecutive year, the proposal failed to achieve the necessary thirty votes. During last week's session, General Synod returned the question to the classes.

Shooting The Breeze With Ralph Neves

It has been 11 years now since Ralph Neves gave up his career as a race rider. He retired with 3,771 victories (ninth on the all-time list) and with a dollar size steel plate in his head, a reminder of his last serious spill which occurred at Hollywood Park.

Neves admits that quitting wasn't easy. When you've been doing the thing you like best for 31 years it's hard to turn your back on that part of your life and just walk away.

"At first I spent almost every morning out at Santa Anita working some horses for old friend Buster," Neves recalled down at Del Mar where he's getting in "some sort of shape" for one more ride on the merry-go-round. That will come Wednesday when he competes with other ex-jocks in Del Mar's third annual Rocking Chair Derby.

Ralph's friend "Buster" is M.E. Millerick, who always will be remembered as the trainer of Native Diver and his feat of winning Hollywood's Gold Cup three years in a row. The past few days, Neves has renewed this old friendship as he again gallops a few for Buster as tries to revive the old skills.

KEPT IN TOUCH

"After the first year of retirement it wasn't so bad," observed Neves. "It wasn't quite like kicking cigarettes cold-turkey. I did get out to the track mornings and then all the race trackers came into the restaurant at Pasadena (Talk O' The Town) nights after the races. That way I kept in touch. Oh sure, I'd thought about training a horse or two for myself but, knowing me, I figured I'd get unhappy with someone else's ride and first thing you know I'd be back riding again. That talked me out of that."

"Right now my only connection with racing is riding the Rocking Chair Derby and paying the bills on the horses my wife Kay owns. And, that's all I do about her horses. I don't want to share in anything else. Can you imagine the trouble I could get into by offering advice on what horse to buy, or claim, or what to do with any horse? Why, if I were to jump in there like that the first thing you know all the fingers of blame for anything would point at me. No thanks. I like it the way it is."

Riding at Del Mar is nothing new for Ralph Neves. He was there when it all began and in 1939 he led all the track's riders with 26 victories. He did it again in 1946, this time with 47. It was during the '46 season that Neves had one of his more memorable wins at Del Mar. It was the first running of the Bing Crosby Handicap and he thought sure he'd lost it.

CAN'T ALWAYS TELL

"It was close but riders, being smarter than most, can tell if they've won or lost," explained Neves. "Well, it turned out I wasn't all that smart that afternoon when they hung up the dead-heat sign. Mel Peterson rode the other horse (Indian Watch) and I was on War Allies. Know what the winner's share was? A cool $3,250." How times-and purses-have changed!

Neves has one last riding ambition—to win the Rocking Chair Derby. He came close two years ago when he finished second behind Dean Hall. After the race, Neves told the Racing Form chart-caller to have it read: "jockey tired" in his comments. "I should have won it," added Neves. "The horse was fit but the jock wasn't."

Last year was a reversal of that. Ralph was ready but the horse he drew for the five-furlong dash wasn't up to it and he and Ralph finished comfortably up the track behind Ken Church, Bill armatz and Dave Gorman. That one-two-three trio will ride again Wednesday and will be joined by Hall, Angel Valenzuela, George Taniguchi and Hubert Trent. In his best years on the track the now 63-year-old Trent was known as a "longshot rider." He won many a race at big odds and the expression "Pay The Rent With Trent" came into being.

TRENT WON FIRST FUTURITY

Trent also won more than a few stakes in his time but he still has the most affection for a gelding named Star Riddle. On him Trent won the very first Del Mar Futurity and a purse of $6,825, what was back in 1948. Star Fiddle is now in his 29th year of life and taking it easy at Kama Farms, just a short distance up the road from Del Mar. He was saved for this life by Del Mar which bought his papers and voided them a few years ago.

Wednesday will be a day for memories at Del Mar and you know a barrel of stories will unfold at the Rocking Chair Derby dinner after the races. Joining the ancient riders will be three gentlemen not unknown to the world of horse racing. Confident that they have better sense than those who will ride in the race, Eddie Arcaro, Johnny Longden and Johnny Adams have accepted positions as honorary stewards for the Rocking Chair Derby.

That famous trio are all in racing's Hall of Fame, and between them rode a total of 14,075 winners in their careers. Longden retired with 6026; Arcaro with 4779 and Adams with 3270.

RACE TO THE BAG — It would have been a close call as ex-Mater Dei High and Santa Ana College star Dan Meyer raced the throw to second on this play. Catcher

Ike Hampton's throw to Jerry Remy was off-line and Meyer was safe. However, it did little good as the hard-pressed Tigers dropped their 19th straight game when Frank Tanana blanked them, 8-0.

Tanana Shutout, 49ers Vow Tougher Record Tonight?

By JOHN STELLMAN
It was untypical of the 18 straight defeats that preceded Detroit's 8-0 shellacking by the Angels at the Big A Friday night.

"That's the first time we've been beat like that in a long time," conceded Tiger manager Ralph Houk after No. 19.

The 1968 Red Sox and '66 and '43 Philadelphia A's may have to move over and make room

Lolich matched Tanana pitch-for-pitch until the sixth. "We were winning some games in the eighth inning and couldn't hold the lead," the manager noted.

The loss, probably for the remainder of the season, of reliever John Hiller has been a severe blow.

"Actually, we haven't played that bad. The days we got pitching, we didn't get hitting and vice versa. They've been hustling and as long as they're playing hard, that's all you can ask them to do," Houk confessed.

It was another sparkling performance for the Angels, who notched their third straight win and sixth in their last seven games.

Earlier, the Tigers strung together a nine game winning streak.

HALOS—Although it has yet to be finalized, the Angels are tentatively scheduled to open their home season next year against Oakland. Dick Williams returned to the helm last night after missing Thursday's game because of an ear infection. Houston Falls beat Great Falls, 5-1. Thursday night to take over first place in the Pioneer League. Quad Cities is 4 1/2 games ahead of Clinton in the Midwest League, while Salt Lake City has a two-game edge on Tucson in the PCL. And El Paso had already drawn 150,000 fans, breaking its all-time attendance record of 148,000, which was established in 1962. Tonight is Jacket Night. Youngsters 14 years of age and younger will receive white Angel warmup jackets with red lettering bordered in blue. Ray Bate and Chuck Hockenberry are the probable.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The coaches insist it will be a barn-burner, but there are a number of disturbing facts about tonight's Los Angeles - San Francisco 49er exhibition game:

—The Rams, 10-4 last season, demolished Dallas 35-7 in their National Football League pre-season opener last week.

—The 49ers, 6-8 last season, scored a close, 17-13 victory over Cleveland in their opener, and Cleveland finished 4-10 last year.

—The Rams have won 11 of their last 12 exhibitions against the 49ers and nine straight league games over the Bay Area crew.

The 49ers, however, acquired speedy wide receiver Bob Hayes from Dallas during the off season, and quarterback Steve Spurrier, the top candidate for the 49er quarterback job, apparently has recovered from an injury which kept him out of the Cleveland game.

And the 49ers are talking a good fight.

"The squad will be ready to go," vows San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan. "They'll be treating it as more than a preseason game because the rivalry with the Rams is something a little special and that's even heightened because of the Rams' domination of us the last few years."

And Tom Owen, who will start for the 49ers at quarterback tonight, agrees.

"We're going to be ready because the Rams are kind of always in the back of our minds, because they're in our division and they're a team we have to beat. It's always a special occasion to play the Rams."

Not to be outdone in the battle to show respect for the other team, Rams' Coach Chuck Knox says he also expects a tough game.

NCAA Cuts Save Colleges $15 Million

CHICAGO (AP) — The adopted at this convention which was called to avert athletic bankruptcy by a number of colleges.

The convention adjourned after dealing with about 50 of the 75 pieces of legislation presented to it in an effort to reverse a situation in which more than 50 per cent of the colleges now show a deficit in their athletic budgets. Not acted upon were three controversial proposals that would have divided up receipts from bowling games, TV and the NCAA basketball tournament. The balance of the proposals will be dealt with at another special meeting, probably just before the next regular NCAA convention next January in St. Louis.

Delegates voted Thursday to terminate the $15 per month expense money that scholarship grants have traditionally included, meaning no scholarship athletes will now be able to receive any money legally. On Friday, coaching staffs were slashed. Division I members—the 234 largest colleges—agreed to get by with a head coach, eight assistants and two part-time assistants in football and a head coach, two assistants and one part-time assistant in basketball. There had been no limits previously. The delegates also set limits on traveling squads in most sports. Football teams will be limited to taking 40 players for road games and basketball teams slashed to 10. There had been no previous limits.

The convention also said no college may visit any recruit off its campus more than three times, and time periods were set for when those visits may take place. And no high school athlete may accept more than six expense-paid visits to a college. There had been no previous limits. John R. Davis, faculty representative of Oregon State, presented the coaching staff reduction proposal to the convention, saying, "There is no greater way to reduce costs

Namath—Tests Gimp Knees

Joe Namath, the high-priced, gimp-kneed quarterback, already is experiencing physical problems and the National Football League exhibition season is barely underway.

Despite a slight muscle pull in Namath's right side, New York Jets Coach Charley Winner plans to use Namath for at least half of tonight's game against the Cardinals in St. Louis. It probably will be the first half. Namath played almost half of the Jets' 20-15 victory over Minnesota last week.

Jim Hart is scheduled to start at quarterback for the Cardinals, who beat Kansas City 10-3 last week.

In other games today Atlanta plays Baltimore at Lincoln, Neb.; San Francisco is at

Los Angeles; Chicago meets Green Bay in Milwaukee; Washington is at Houston; Detroit is at Miami; Philadelphia is at Cleveland; the New York Giants play at San Diego and Denver meets the Saints in the New Orleans Superdome.

Pittsburgh plays Oakland at Berkeley, Calif., and Minnesota is at New England Sunday. Dallas plays at Kansas City Monday night.

Fans at Lincoln, used to watching top-notch college players, could get to see a 1975 college star, quarterback Steve Bartkowski, make his pro debut. The former California player might see some duty at Atlanta against Baltimore.

Washington will be looking for its first victory and its first touchdown in three pre-season meetings with Houston.

Baseball Playoff Plans Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — The third and fourth games of the American and National League championship playoffs will be played at night, Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Friday.

The best-of-five league series all had been day games since their inception in 1969.

Kuhn also announced that the Oakland A's and Cincinnati Reds have been given permission to print World Series tickets. Oakland, World Series winner the past three seasons, is leading the AL West while Cincinnati is a runaway winner in the NL West.

In addition to Oakland and Cincinnati, representatives of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and St. Louis of the NL and Baltimore, Boston and Kansas City attended the league championship-World Series planning meeting here Friday. New York teams will receive details separately, Kuhn said.

The league playoffs will begin Saturday Oct. 4, five days after the Sept. 28 end of the regular season. The first two NL games will be played in the afternoon of Oct. 4-5 in the park of the Western Division winner. The American League games also are set for Oct. 4-5 at the Eastern Division champion's park.

The third games in both of Tuesday Oct. 7 in the NL East and AL West parks. If necessary, night games are scheduled at the same sites Wednesday, Oct. 8. If fifth games are necessary, they will be played Thursday afternoon Oct. 9, also at the same sites.

The best-of-seven World Series between the American and National champions is scheduled to open Saturday Oct. 11 in the AL city, with Game No. 2 at the same site Sunday afternoon, Oct. 12.

Two Share 'Berg' Lead With 68s

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — JoAnne Carner, who dominated the game last year, and Betty Burfeindt, who almost quit the sport last season, carded five-under-par 68s Friday to share a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $45,000 Patty Berg Golf Classic.

Mrs. Carner, who won the tournament at the 6,000-yard, par-73 Keller Golf Course a year ago, turned in a five-under 32 on the front nine to go with her 36 on the back and pulled into a tie with Miss Burfeindt, an early finisher.

Miss Burfeindt, who slumped to earnings of $6,000 in 1974 after winning more than $100,000 the previous two years combined, drilled in a 50-foot putt on her first hole to get rolling on a round that included seven birdies and two bogeys.

Mrs. Carner started slowly, turning the back nine which she played first in an even-par 36. She reeled off four straight birdies on the first four holes of her second nine and just missed an eagle on No. 7.

The two shared a one-stroke lead over six other players at 69. They were Judy Rankin, Carol Mann, Judy Kimball, J. Ann Washam, Sandra Spuzich and Betsy Cullen.

Alone at 70 was Sandra Burns, followed by the trio of Sandra Palmer, Donna Young and Janet LePera at 71.

Miss Burfeindt said it has taken her two years to readjust her swing, and she is just now starting to see the improvement. But she had become so frustrated in 1974 she thought of retiring.

Green Leads, Eyes 'Stork'

WETHERSFIELD, Conn.

(AP) — Hubert Green, who may be called away from the golf tournament at any moment to be with his wife for the birth of their first child, birdied the final hole for a 65 and a tie with Don Bies for the lead after Friday's second round of the $200,000 Greater Hartford Open. "She knows my position," Green said of his wife, Judi, after his six-under-par effort on the 6,596-yard Wethersfield Country Club course. "If she wants me, she'll call, and I'll go."

Green, a four-time winner last season but in a slump most of this year, and the veteran Bies put together two-round totals of 131, 11 under par after two trips over the cozy layout that often yields some of the lowest scores of the season.

Bies, 37, who has yet to win in nine years on the tour, had a second-round 66.

Three strokes back were U.S. Open champion Lou Graham, J.C. Snead and Larry Nelson, tied for third at 134. Graham had another 67, Nelson shot 68 and Snead had a 68 in the mild, hazy weather.

Tom Shaw and Andy North were at 135, seven under and four back. North had a 69 and Shaw a 67.

Johnny Miller and defending champion Dave Stockton were in a group at 136. Stockton and Miller each shot second-round 67s.

"It was a good round," Miller said. "I drove it straight and I hit my irons straight. It was kinda nice to see the ball go straight for a change."

Lee Trevino rallied with a 65, including 30 on his front nine, and was at 137 after an opening 72.

"Some days you tee it up and it just ain't there," Trevino said. "Then the next day you go out and you're playing as good as you ever did."

South African Gary Player shot a 68 and was at 137. Jack Nicklaus, winner of the PGA National Championship last week, and Arnold Palmer are not competing.

Lutz Rallies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Second-seeded Bob Lutz came back from a one-set deficit after a two-hour rain delay Friday to advance to the semifinals of the $50,000 Buckeye Tennis Championships with a 1-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Sherwood Stewart.

Lutz, of San Clemente, Calif., will face fifth-seeded Tom Gorman, who advanced with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Jim Delaney of Potomac, Md.

Lutz is seeded just behind doubles partner Stan Smith, who was not scheduled in singles play Friday.

Stewart, of Goose Creek, Tex., broke Lutz' first serve to go up 1-0 before rain held up play. He came back after the delay to break Lutz in the third and seventh games to easily win the first set.

Sweden-Chile Tennis Set—For Rioting

BAASTAD, Sweden (AP) — Authorities finally gave permission Friday for the controversial Sweden-Chile Davis Cup semifinals tennis match here next month and left-wing groups immediately intensified efforts to stop it.

Police Commissioner Lars Wiktor announced at nearby Angelnholm after several days of discussions with colleagues the decision to give the Swedish Tennis Federation permission for the match Sept. 19-21.

He also announced that two streets within the stadium area will be closed off to help prevent anticipated demonstrations.

Police said the Swedish Tennis Federation must pay for the extra police forces needed to protect the Chilean players from possible violence by groups opposed to the ruling military junta in Chile.

Ten left-wing groups, including the "Committee of Solidarity with Chile," a body consisting of mostly Chilean refugees living in Sweden, have formed an organization to stop the match.

"Our goal is to create an opinion in Sweden strong enough to prevent the match from being played," said a spokesman for the newly-formed organization.

Walt Garrison Quits Football

DALLAS (AP) — Fullback Walt Garrison of the Dallas Cowboys is retiring, officials of the National Football League team said Friday.

Garrison, recovering from a rodeo injury, told Coach Tom Landry of his decision Thursday night in a telephone call. Curt Mosher, a spokesman for the team said. The team is in Thousand Oaks, Calif., for training camp.

The veteran fullback underwent knee surgery recently following an off-season rodeo appearance.

Duck, Goose Hunters At Saddleback

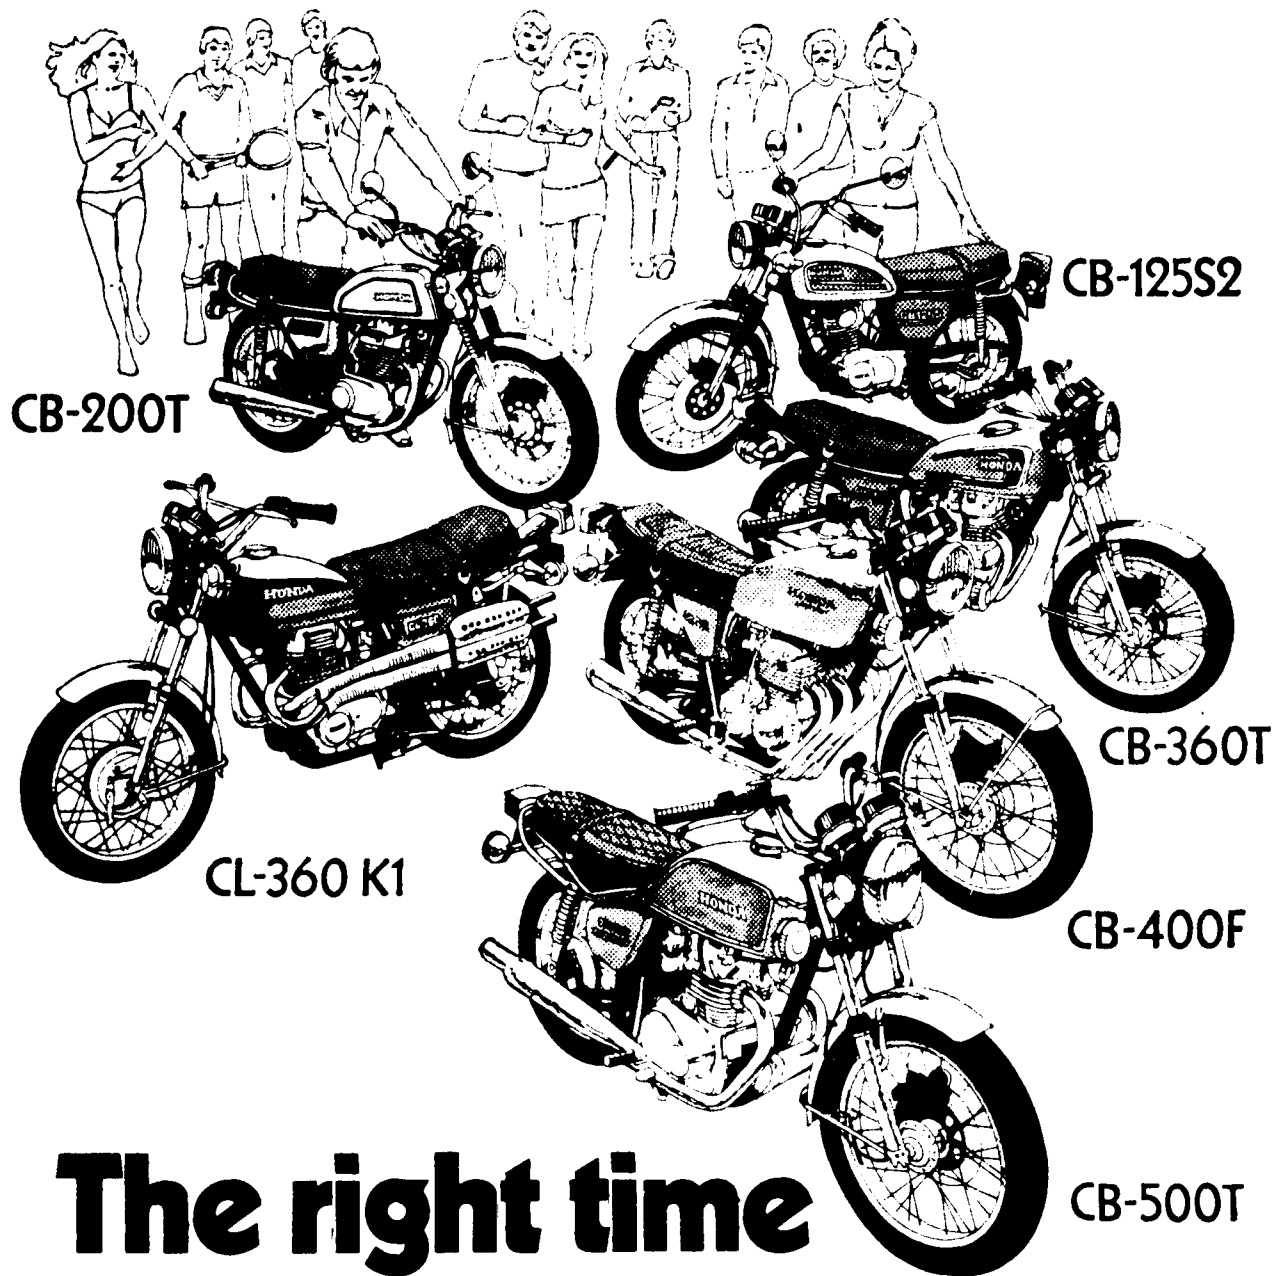

Today (9 a.m. to 3 p.m.) over 400 hunters will invade the Trabuco Room of the Saddleback Inn in Santa Ana for a one day seminar on duck and goose hunting.

These men will hear from such greats as Mickey Sasso, California duck and goose calling champ; Tom Reside, Salton Sea goose guide; Sam Asta, president of Western Sportsman's Club; Ron Judd, wildlife man for The American Sportsman's Club; Dr. Dick Hixon, well known Valley goose hunter; and Dick Westermann, author of two books on duck and goose hunting.

Hunters will learn that decoys should be at least three feet apart in a fish hook or pipe design. He will learn the "word system" of duck calling so that on the feed call of a mallard hen he will say the words "What when where why" inaudibly through his call to get the right effect.

Booths of manufacturers displays of guns, decoys, shells, duck and goose calls, waterfowl art and books, will be there to greet early comers from 9:10 a.m.

Quiet Market Climbs

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned upward with a technical rally Friday, but trading slowed to a new low for the year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose 8.60 to 825.64, winding up the week with a net advance of 7.90 points.

Big Board volume came to only 10.61 million shares, the lightest total for a full six-hour session since 7.40 million changed hands on Nov. 29—the Friday following Thanksgiving—last year.

The previous 1975 low had been 11.66 million last Friday.

Because of the sluggish activity, most analysts attached little significance to the advance.

They said it was natural for some bargain hunting to appear following a month of substantial declines.

One apparent plus in the news background was the Commerce Department's report at the opening that the nation's balance of payments showed further improvement in the second quarter.

And brokers said there might have been some favorable response to the Wall Street Journal report that the Federal Reserve had decided to stand as a last-resort means of financial support for New York City.

The story drew denials from Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Fed, as well as officials of New York's Municipal Assistance Corp.

After the close, the Fed reported that industrial production rose .5 per cent in July for its second consecutive monthly gain.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index showed a .76 gain at 86.36, and the NYSE's composite index up .38 at 46.02.

Reliance Group's preferred shares topped the NYSE's most-active list, up 1/4 at 10 1/4.

A 163,000-share block at 10 1/4 accounted for virtually all the turnover in the issue.

Kennebec Copper, also active, fell 1/4 to 30 1/4. The company cut its quarterly dividend from 1 1/4 to 1 1/8.

Glamor issues rebounded from some sharp recent declines. IBM was up 2 1/4 at 162 1/4. Digital Equipment gained 2 1/4 to 113 1/4. Philip Morris added 1 1/4 to 45 1/4, and Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing rose 1 1/4 to 55 1/4.

Among blue chips, U.S. Steel climbed 2 1/4 to 64 1/4 and International Paper was up 1/4 at 80 1/4.

Inexco Oil, which reported on results of recent test drilling for uranium in northern Saskatchewan, was the day's best percentage gainer with a one-point rise to 6 1/4.

Clorox picked up 1/4 to 10 1/4 on higher quarterly earnings.

Chemical Express, the American Stock Exchange volume leader, was unchanged at 3 1/4.

The Amex market value index was up .31 at 86.16.

In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite index edged up .15 to 78.88.

So Cal OTC NEW YORK (AP) — Reactions to the OTC market were mixed, with some gains and some declines.

Among the gains, the OTC index rose 1/4 to 10 1/4.

Newest MACs Sell At Premium

NEW YORK (AP)—The new 1983-maturity Municipal Assistance Corp. bonds, designed to help see New York City through the next month, finally came to market Friday and were reported selling at a slight premium.

The new $275 million MAC issue, offering interest rates up to 11 per cent, were reported by Salomon Brothers as selling at $997.50 bid, $1,002.50 asked or a $1,000 face value bond.

The new issue apparently was aided by a Wall Street Journal report—later denied—that Fed Chairman Arthur Burns had given city officials private assurances of aid if all else failed.

Even though the report was denied, the hint of such Fed assurances apparently were enough for bond traders.

The previously offered MAC bonds, meanwhile, with 1983 and 1990 maturities, posted price gains of 1/2-point to 1 point on the day, but still ended the week about two points lower.

Most other municipal bonds traded quietly and little changed.

In the corporate market, industrials, utilities and railroads were unchanged on balance.

Three-month treasury bill yields declined four basis points.

OTC Insurance, Banks & Trusts

NEW YORK (AP)—The OTC market for insurance, banks and trusts was mixed Friday.

The following OTC market quotations are for the day's trading in the OTC market.

Insurance: The OTC market for insurance was mixed Friday. The OTC index rose 1/4 to 10 1/4.

Banks & Trusts: The OTC market for banks and trusts was mixed Friday. The OTC index rose 1/4 to 10 1/4.

Among the gains, the OTC index rose 1/4 to 10 1/4.

Among the declines, the OTC index fell 1/4 to 10 1/4.

Grain, Livestock Post Week's Gains

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures advanced again last week and this set off price gains in livestock futures.

Trade talk of new Russian buying of grains in North America, along with her satellite countries tended to influence rather active buying in wheat, corn and soybeans futures.

This also produced some stronger prices in cattle and hog futures as grains rose.

When trade ended for the week on Friday, wheat futures were 31 to 34 cents a bushel higher, September 4.17: corn was 12 to 19 1/2 higher, September 1.72 1/2; soybeans were 17 to 22 higher, August 6.25; soybean oil was 10 to 95 points nearly 1 cent a pound lower. August 28.75; soybean meal was 10.80 to 14.30 higher, nearly $15 a ton, August 147.00; and iced broilers were 90 to 312 pounds higher, just over 3 cents a pound, August 50.87.

It had been confirmed that Russia bought some 14 million tons of grains in the United States and additional food and feed grains from Canada. Now, however, there was talk that Russia and several eastern European satellites would be in the market again, despite a suspension of trade order by the U.S. government.

Buying of wheat, corn & soybeans by several of the major export houses the three last days of the week set off strong buying moves in all allied pits on the Chicago Board of Trade floor and the trade buzzed with word that this probably was hedging against foreign sales for delivery next year, when any export controls probably will be lifted.

There was little weather buying or selling, although concern still was expressed that not enough rain had fallen in early August to help the corn and soybean crops in some sections of the Middle West.

Corn and oats gains were rather thin, as was their trade. Soybean oil was weak at week's end when support fell off, but meal was strong on a limit gain. Iced broilers were strong in nearby months, reflecting from 0 to 25 cents a share.

Gold futures on domestic exchanges closed the week rather steady, but price moves were rather wide during the week. Trade depended largely on London gold moves.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned upward with a technical rally Friday, but trading slowed to a new low for the year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose 8.60 to 825.64, winding up the week with a net advance of 7.90 points.

Big Board volume came to only 10.61 million shares, the lightest total for a full six-hour session since 7.40 million changed hands on Nov. 29—the Friday following Thanksgiving—last year.

The previous 1975 low had been 11.66 million last Friday.

Because of the sluggish activity, most analysts attached little significance to the advance.

They said it was natural for some bargain hunting to appear following a month of substantial declines.

One apparent plus in the news background was the Commerce Department's report at the opening that the nation's balance of payments showed further improvement in the second quarter.

And brokers said there might have been some favorable response to the Wall Street Journal report that the Federal Reserve had decided to stand as a last-resort means of financial support for New York City.

The story drew denials from Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Fed, as well as officials of New York's Municipal Assistance Corp.

After the close, the Fed reported that industrial production rose .5 per cent in July for its second consecutive monthly gain.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index showed a .76 gain at 86.36, and the NYSE's composite index up .38 at 46.02.

Reliance Group's preferred shares topped the NYSE's most-active list, up 1/4 at 10 1/4.

A 163,000-share block at 10 1/4 accounted for virtually all the turnover in the issue.

Kennebec Copper, also active, fell 1/4 to 30 1/4. The company cut its quarterly dividend from 1 1/4 to 1 1/8.

Glamor issues rebounded from some sharp recent declines. IBM was up 2 1/4 at 162 1/4. Digital Equipment gained 2 1/4 to 113 1/4. Philip Morris added 1 1/4 to 45 1/4, and Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing rose 1 1/4 to 55 1/4.

Among blue chips, U.S. Steel climbed 2 1/4 to 64 1/4 and International Paper was up 1/4 at 80 1/4.

Inexco Oil, which reported on results of recent test drilling for uranium in northern Saskatchewan, was the day's best percentage gainer with a one-point rise to 6 1/4.

Clorox picked up 1/4 to 10 1/4 on higher quarterly earnings.

Chemical Express, the American Stock Exchange volume leader, was unchanged at 3 1/4.

The Amex market value index was up .31 at 86.16.

In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite index edged up .15 to 78.88.

Hotel Night Clerk,
$6,000 Disappear

SOUTH LAGUNA—Sheriff's deputies are searching for the 53-year-old night clerk at Ben Brown's hotel-restaurant-golf course complex in connection with the disappearance of $6,000 in receipts from the Aliso Canyon resort.

Day shift employees told investigators that when they came to work Thursday the money and night clerk Kenneth Earl Lees of San Clemente were gone.

Investigators also said they found a note at the scene signed "Ken" that said the money was needed to take care of his invalid mother.

CONTEST WINNERStaple Puller, DMV
Director Trade Jobs

Copley News Service

SACRAMENTO—"I gave him five chances. So far, he's to his fourth one," the $2.60-an-hour staple puller said as he watched his $37,000-a-year boss at work.

For an hour and a half, staple puller Jon Hein traded jobs with Herman Sillas, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Hein had won—or perhaps lost—the department's contest to determine its most thankless job.

"I have the exciting job of taking staples out of files," Hein wrote on his entry. "What's more exciting is that I get to put them back in again."

That won the contest and the tradeoff of jobs for a few hours. Under Hein's watchful eye, Sillas dutifully pulled staples that held together boat registration forms, pulled outdated ones, inserted new ones and stapled the forms back together.

"Everybody does it their own way," Hein said. He grinned as other DMV employees crowded around. "He'll have sore hands tomorrow," Hein said.

Looking up at the 20 employees crowded around, Sillas mused, "I guess nobody's seen a director work before."

Later, they moved over to Sillas' office where Hein sat in on the boss' job for a couple of hours of meetings with Sillas.

Sillas said about 100 DMV employees sent entries in for the humorous contest, many of them jokes themselves.

The idea of the contest was to create an atmosphere in which the employees will enjoy their jobs, the director explained.

Since taking over the post early this year, Sillas has come up with a variety of gimmicks to enliven the usually gray bureaucracy. He had a variety of colorful murals painted on DMV doors, including a giant love bug on his own, and an open house in DMV offices in May.

Hein's temporary job will last about four months as he goes through each of the 640,000 boat registrations. He took a stock clerk examination in the department—only to find that the position had been eliminated. Now he is trying to become a DMV warehouseman.

Regains 'Hairy' Title

NORTH BAY, Canada (AP)—Archie Parisien has made it back into the Guinness Book of World Records. He first made it in 1967 by cutting hair for 64 hours, but was deposed by 82 hours and nine minutes. Parisien won the title back with 83 hours and 10 minutes.

Single Family Home Sales Dip In June

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new homes spurred a sharp rather than a basic jump in demand. However, economists for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board had cautioned that the increase meant earlier purchases of homes which would not be bought eventually, during the rest of the year.

A report issued this week said that while the decline followed five consecutive increases, the June figures still put 1975 housing sales 6.1 per cent ahead of where they were a year ago.

State's Gun Control Proposal Held Legal

FREEWAY MEDIAN YIELDS CORN FOR TENNESSEE FAMILY

The REGISTER Saturday, August 16, 1975 D1

CORLEY NEWS SERVICE
SACRAMENTO — Legislation restricting the private possession of handguns in California has been ruled not in violation of the Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

This was the conclusion of the legislative counsel of California in an opinion requested by Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-West Los Angeles, disclosed this week.

Sieroty is one of the authors of legislation, AB 2426, that would restrict handguns in the state.

"The enactment of AB 2426 would not violate individual rights under the Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution," George H. Murphy, legislative counsel, concluded in his opinion.

The opinion states that as recently as 1969, the California Supreme Court has said, "The claim that legislation regulating weapons violates the Second Amendment has been rejected by every court which has ruled on the question."

Murphy's opinion cites numerous cases which have held that "the sale of deadly weapons may be absolutely prohibited under the police power of the state."

The legislative counsel pointed to the California Dangerous Weapons Control Act which the court has upheld, the most recent case being the People vs. Deane in 1968.

Sen. Richardson's office said that he would have no comment on the legislative counsel's opinion pending a study of the opinion.

The senator's office added that it has heard reports that initial study is being given to the possibility of an initiative.

Book Returned 46 Years Later

SAN MATEO (AP) — A book on the American revolution is back on the shelf at San Mateo public library — 46 years late but just in time for the bicentennial.

Librarian Alfred Kraig said the volume was checked out Oct. 16, 1929, and was recently found in a deposit bin at the Hayward State College library. "It was probably next year's bicentennial that triggered the conscience," he suggested.

GORDONSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Motorists on Interstate 40 don't need billboards to break the monotony along one stretch of freeway here. Corn is growing on 7 1/2 acres of the median.

"We've been growing something there every year," says Mrs. Bank Scudder, whose family owns the land. "The only problem is that everybody lives off it."

She said the state purchased the land adjoining the 7 1/2 acres for I-40 about 12 years ago, but didn't want the ground in the middle. So her husband and their son continued to farm it. "It's a pretty long strip," she said. "It's about twice as long as it is wide."

"It's a good crop this year. We had some dry weather, but we had rain when we needed it. "People may stop, but they don't ask to pick it. We take it for granted they'll be there. We never have tried to stop anyone."

The corn is visible from both the eastbound and westbound lanes, although the interstate is somewhat elevated and the cornfield is not easily accessible.

"There's a real steep embankment and the corn is some 40 miles east of Nashville, but if you want corn-ville, although the interstate is somewhat elevated and the cornfield is not easily accessible. Scudder, 69, uses a road that goes under the freeway to get his machinery into the field, bankment and the corn is some 40 miles east of Nashville, but if you want corn-

Players To Audition For FCLO Musical

FULLERTON—The Fullerton Civic Light Opera Co. will hold auditions for the fall production of "The Sound of Music," beginning Tuesday, Sept. 2.

The complete schedule is as follows: Tuesday, Sept. 2 and Thursday, Sept. 4—7:30 p.m.—adults, singing and reading; Saturday, Sept. 6—1 p.m. to 5 p.m.—children, singing, dancing and reading; Sunday, Sept. 7—1 p.m. Call backs will be at director's request only.

All auditions will be held at the FCLO building, 218 W. Commonwealth, Fullerton (two blocks west of Harbor Boulevard).

An accompanist will be provided, as well as music from "The Sound of Music." Any other music must be provided by the auditioner and in the proper key.

The only children in the show are the Von Trapp children: Liesl, age 16, alto range, must dance; Friedrich, age 14, voice must not have changed; Louisa, age 13; Kurt, age 11; Brigitta, age 9; Marta, age 7; and Gretl, age 5. All the children must be able to act, sing and dance.

Approximately 36 people will be cast in "The Sound of Music," 19 women, 10 men and seven children. In addition to adult cast members, the role of Rolf Gruber, a young man of about 17, calls for a high baritone or tenor range. He must be able to move well.

Rehearsals will begin Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m. and will continue Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Sunday afternoons for six weeks.

"The Sound of Music" will open at Plummer Auditorium Oct. 17 and continue performances Oct. 18, 24, 25, 26 (matinee), 31, and Nov. 1.

The staff will be Jan Duncan, general director; Benton Minor, musical director and conductor; Kathleen Melcher, choreographer; and Grif Duncan, producer.

Fullerton Civic Light Opera Co. is non-profit and non-equity.

Simon Comedy To Premiere At Ahmanson

LOS ANGELES—The world premiere of Neil Simon's new comedy, "California Suite," will be the fourth attraction for the Center Theatre Group-Ahmanson's 1975-76 season.

Simon's new play, which is four one-act comedies set in a Beverly Hills hotel, will premiere at the Ahmanson Theatre of the Music Center on April 23 and play a six-week engagement through June 5, 1976.

"California Suite" is the first stage comedy Neil Simon has written in Los Angeles since moving here from New York, where he wrote an unmatched number of Broadway hits. It will eventually open on Broadway following its run at the Ahmanson Theatre.

Stars and a director for the comedy will be announced in the near future.

Thus, with this announcement, the CTG-Ahmanson and Robert Fryer have lined-up a four-play season which will include an American Premiere, a West Coast Premiere, and a World Premiere. Opening the season will be the American Premiere of Alan Ayckbourn's three comedies collectively called "The Norman Conquests," which has been the sensation of London for several theatrical seasons.

"The Norman Conquests" will be directed by Eric Thompson, who directed the plays in London, and star Richard Benjamin, Paula Prentiss, Ken Howard, and Estelle Parsons, and play at the Ahmanson Theatre Oct. 10 through Nov. 29.

Following, Richard Chamberlain will return to the Ahmanson Theatre to star with Dorothy McGuire and Raymond Massey in an all-star revival of Tennessee Williams' drama, "The Night of the Iguana" (Dec. 19-Jan. 31), directed by Joseph Hardy.

For the third attraction, the CTG-Ahmanson will present the West Coast premiere of Bernard Slade's Broadway smash, hit comedy, "Same Time, Next Year," (Feb. 6-March 30) which recently won the New York Drama Desk Award for Best New American Play.

The world premiere of Neil Simon's new comedy, "California Suite," rounds out the CTG-Ahmanson's ninth subscription season.
